6 Of 8 Funds Reduced

Council's Appropriations Show Slash Of $62,947

Council Monday night approved an austere appropriation ordinance providing $1,338,194 for all municipal purposes in 1961, a slash of $62,947 from the $1,401,141 allocated in 1960.

Making reductions all along the line, Council set up lesser amounts in six of the eight major funds. The reductions range from $118 to $17,238.

Of the two funds in which more money is provided for 1961, compared with 1960, there is an increase of $4,360 for poor relief costs and the overall expenditure in the general fund has climbed by $2,090.

ONE OF the most severe slashes is in the street department's appropriation, cut back to $116,540 for 1961 against $130,582 in 1960, a reduction of $14,042.

The allocation for street department payrolls has been cut to $80,000 from $92,000 — a decline of $12,000 — which means that at least three employees will have to be laid off. The street department now has a force of about 23.

The department's allocation for material and supplies is $24,000 — the same as in 1960.

A sharp reduction in anticipated revenue in street department funds brought about the cutbacks, Councilman John Melvin, finance committee chairman, explained. The street department is supported by funds received from the state as the city's share of auto license fees and gasoline taxes.

THERE ARE only two major "new equipment" items provided in the new appropriation — a second police cruiser estimated to cost $2,500 and a $6,169 fund that will be used to modernize the traffic light system at three major downtown intersections to safeguard pedestrians, Melvin explained.

Although the details have not been worked out, Council expects to make changes in the signal systems at Broadway and E. 5th St., 5th and Market Sts. and 6th and Market Sts.

For the wide intersection at Broadway and E. 5th St., a safety island may be made part of the safety measure for pedestrians. It may be coupled with a "walk" light to assure that persons on foot have ample time to cross. "Walk" light systems also are being considered for the intersections at 5th and Market and 6th and Market.

THE FUNDS for the new system are provided as part of the so-called state highway improvement fund. The fund is made up of a percentage of revenue from gasoline taxes and auto license revenues which every Ohio city is required by law to set aside for work on state highways inside the municipal limits.

The highway improvement fund for 1961 totals $8,669, down $2,331 from 1960.

Here's how the allocations compare with 1960 in the other major funds:

General, $487,874 in 1961, up $2,090 from the $485,784 in 1960; water department, $224,421, down $17,238 from the $241,659 in 1960; sewer revenue, $180,541 in 1961, down $118 from $180,659 in 1960; garbage collection and disposal $117,267, down $6,326 from the $124,193 in 1960; general bond retirement, $14,606, down $13,689 from the $28,295 in 1960, and poor relief, $64,894, up $4,360 from the $60,534 in 1960.

OF $150,797 in new revenue anticipated from a city income tax that went into effect Jan. 27, Council was required to appropriate $109,669 for ordinary operating expenses. That leaves an anticipated $41,127 in new revenue which may be unencumbered for a capital improvement program, Melvin said.

The allocations out of income tax revenue include $63,361 which will be used to make up for a sharp decline in revenue in the general fund.

Although the general fund allocation this year is up only $2,090 from 1960, the decline in income was so severe that a major chunk of the income tax revenue had to be used to make up the difference — simply to maintain services on the same level as in 1960, Melvin pointed out.

IN ADDITION to a decline in revenue from real estate tax collections, the so-called "miscellaneous receipts" in general fund revenue are off. These include such items as cigarette and sales taxes, liquor permit fees, parking meter fees and fines, Municipal Court revenue and city licenses and fees.

The drop in collections totals about $33,000. In addition, the general fund had a balance of $26,278 carried forward into 1960 from 1959, but there was no balance at the end of last year.

Also helping account for the $109,669 allocated out of the income tax revenue are these items:

Heirs Accept City's Offer Of $45,000

Demolition, Grading And Meters To Hike Total To $60,000

Climaxing several months of intermittent negotiations, Council Monday night put its informal stamp of approval on a proposal to acquire the huge old Ceramic Theater building, raze it and convert the site to a metered parking lot.

The way was cleared for the long-pending deal when the last of the Tallman Estate heirs signed a written agreement to accept the city's offer of $45,000 for the towering structure on E. 4th St., a landmark since the turn of the century.

$15,000 For Razing
An additional $15,000 probably will be spent in razing the building, leveling and filling the site, installing meters and making other preparations for parking — which will make the overall cost of the project about $60,000.

The Ceramic lot fronts 98' on E. 4th St. and is 130 feet deep. Under present tentative plans, the city expects to provide spaces for parking 40 autos.

Crook Alley runs along the east side of the theater property and E. Church Ln. is in the rear.

Councilmen emphasized that the project will be self-liquidating — no tax money will be used in the financing of the purchase or preparation of the lot. As in the case of other municipally-operated lots established in the last few years, revenue from parking meters will be utilized to cover the cost.

Bond Issue Required
As one of the next steps in the purchase, a bond issue will be authorized to raise the required funds. The bonds may be retired in a span as brief as 10 years, but more likely 15 to 20 years will be required to repay the debt, Council estimated informally.

When the city put out the first "feelers" to the Tallman Estate on the purchase several months ago, the overall price of the prop-

Wednesday Deadline Set For Primaries

Although the deadline falls Wednesday night at 9, apathy continues to mark a campaign to register unqualified East Liverpool electors for the May 2 primaries. Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, commented today.

Sixteen registered Monday and 12 recorded transfers — changes of address. That pushed to 10,446 the total number qualified.

The board yesterday inaugurated a continuous 12-hour schedule at its office opposite City Hall on W. 6th St. to give unqualified voters "every opportunity to qualify."

The office will be open again tonight until 9 and the 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. schedule also will be followed Wednesday.

The staff workers on staggered lunch and dinner hours in order to keep the office open without a break.

In the changes of address, most of the affected voters are persons forced to move from West End homes to make way for the new city freeway, O'Hanlon commented. The registrations are mostly those of young men and women expecting to vote for the first time because they have become 21 since the last election or will be 21 before the general election.

A person who will be 21 by Nov. 7 is permitted to register and vote in both the primary and the general election. It is known as "voting on age."

Meanwhile, the board has approved printer's proofs on a ballot for the Southern Local School District combination bond issue and tax levy, O'Hanlon said. The issue was filed last week.

OLD LANDMARK TO GO. The bark of auto exhausts will soon disturb the ghosts of old-time stage casts where the Ceramic Theater now stands. Council has cleared the way for the city to acquire the centrally located property for conversion to a municipal parking lot. The big structure, where New York casts presented plays and musicals years ago before it was converted to a movie, was considered one of the largest theaters in Eastern Ohio before it was shuttered two years ago. Close by the business district, the project will cost the city an estimated $60,000 to be paid from parking revenues.

Ewing Named To Southern Local's Board

25 Residents Urge McPherson Land As Site Of New School

John Ewing, Wayne Township farmer, was named to the Southern Local Board of Education at a meeting Monday night. Ewing, former member, succeeds Albert Eisenbarth of Salineville, who resigned last month.

Martin Adams of Salineville was elected vice president, succeeding Eisenbarth.

Discussion was held on proposed tracts for the planned new high school for which a $356,000 bond issue will be considered by voters May 2.

A delegation of 25 expressed unanimous support for the purchase of a tract on Route 39 east of Salineville owned by Robert McPherson. The only other site being considered is a 34-acre tract owned by Sykes Stewart near the "Y" intersection east of Salineville.

The board will meet in special session Wednesday night at 7:30 at Highlandtown School to consider final selection of a site.

Purchase of 34 new seats at a cost of some $24 each for the second grade at Wayne School was approved. Bids will be sought for the purchase of three present six-year-old vehicles.

$1,700 Fire Blamed On Broken Light Bulb

A broken light bulb was blamed for a fire which caused a total of $1,700 damage to a combination barn and garage at the home of Charles McKinnon of 25th St. Heights, Wellsville, Monday night at 8:25.

The Wellsville volunteer fire department responded to the call. Firemen said the bulb apparently burst and fell into some straw.

Some $1,000 damage resulted to the building, $300 to contents and $400 to a car parked inside. The McKinnon home, owned by Norman Mobley of near Wells-ville, is about a mile outside the city limits.

Neglect Of Duty

3 Officers Cited In Tower Tumble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has charged three officers with neglect of duty in connection with the deaths of 28 men Jan. 15 when a Texas Tower radar station tumbled into the Atlantic during a howling gale.

The Air Defense Command, in an announcement released Monday by the Defense Department said the charges were made as a result of a preliminary investigation.

The accused officers: Col. William M. Banks, who was acting commander of the Boston Air Defense Sector at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, N.Y., charged with culpable negligence and dereliction of duty.

Maj. William A. Sheppard, commander of the 4604th Support Squadron at Otis AFB, Mass., charged with dereliction of duty.

Maj. Sheppard's home address is in Cambridge, Ohio.

Maj. Reginald L. Stark, acting commander of the squadron "during the critical period prior to the loss of the tower," charged with dereliction of duty.

The Air Force said the charges were based on the way the men "performed their duties immediately prior to the disaster" off the New Jersey coast.

The 4604th Squadron had direct responsibility for the tower, which was part of the coastal radar screen system to detect hostile aircraft. It was located about 85 miles southeast of New York. The tower nicknamed "old shaky" by its occupants, disappeared from the radar screens at 7:33 p.m. EST Jan. 15. That is accepted as the approximate time of the collapse.

There were no survivors. One of the controversies about the disaster is whether the tower could have been evacuated before it toppled into the ocean. It had been damaged by a series of hurricanes and was scheduled to be shut down for repairs Feb. 1.

Clark Gable's Widow To Name Baby Today

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Clark Gable's widow, surrounded by congratulatory telegrams and flowers, decides today on a name for the actor's 8-pound son born Monday.

Both were described as thriving at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, where Gable, 59, died last Nov. 16 of a heart attack.

Kay Spreckels Gable has narrowed her choice of a name to two, her sister, Mrs. Gordon Neser of suburban Canoga Park, said Monday night.

Blacktop Plan At Salineville Draws Protest

Businessmen Object To Parking Ban If Project Is Approved

SALINEVILLE — Rejection of proposed blacktopping of Route 39 through the town loomed today following strong protests from businessmen concerning parking limitations connected with the state project.

About 25 attended a public meeting Monday night at the Village Hall at which a number of business operators declared the proposed highway project, for which the state asks a ban on only one side parking on parts of Main St., would reduce shopping in the town.

Warren Hayes of the Salineville Variety Store and Karl Lindner, former mayor and jewelry store operator, were among the chief spokesmen against the ordinance which Council had already approved on two readings.

Mayor Kenneth Leishman presided at the meeting at which Robert Jenkins of the Ohio Highway Department Division 11 at New Philadelphia outlined the state policy.

He said the state requires that any road undergoing improvement must be at least 30 feet wide, otherwise no state work can be done. He said any roadway smaller would not provide proper clearance for traffic, thus Council was asked to establish parking restrictions in order to receive the $30,000 project.

$241 Million Budget Asked By Lawrence

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania legislature received a capital funds budget totaling $241,653,991 from Gov. Lawrence Monday.

The money would be used solely for new construction and improvement of present facilities at state-operated and state-aided institutions in the next two years. Lawrence, in an accompanying message, said the proposed outlay was "a budget for action—prompt action within the next few months and the immediate years ahead."

73 Will Seek Offices With New Borough

Ohio Township Will Become Ohioville Effective Jan. 1

Some 73 residents of Ohio Township, which becomes the Borough of Ohioville Jan. 1, have filed petitions for nominations to various offices and election duties at the May 16 primary in Beaver County.

The office of William B. Smith, director of the Bureau of Elections at Beaver, also announced names of those filing petitions in other communities, including Midland, Industry, Georgetown, Greene Township, Hanover Township, Hookstown and Shippingport.

Smith said only Glasgow Borough at Smiths Ferry and Frankfort Springs Borough had no one filing petitions. He said both communities thus lose the opportunity to receive such funds as liquid fuel tax refunds and those of the liquor control board.

He said the board advertised Monday for bids for printing about 140,000 ballots of which 115,000 will be official and 25,000 specimen. There will be 500 Democratic absentee, 500 Republican absentee, 500 Democratic military and 500 Republican military.

Roll-offs for positions on ballots will be held Wednesday at noon in the Assembly Room of the Beaver County Courthouse, Smith said. Monday was the last day to withdraw petitions and there were several, but none in the Midland area.

Some eight have filed for Beaver County jury commissioner, one to be elected for each party. They include Raymond E. Holzworth of Beaver, incumbent, Leland J. Schachern of Beaver Falls and Sam Urlick of Alliquippa, Demo-

Bond Issue Authorized To Pay Freeway Share

Council approved legislation Monday night authorizing a $166,300 municipal bond issue to cover the city's share of the $6 million West End-California Hollow Freeway project.

Although the city's share of the project initially was set at over $500,000, State Highway Department concessions and a $100,000 grant from county commissioners reduced it to the cost of preparing detailed construction plans, which totaled $148,000, plus $18,000 for the cost of test borings to determine the earth strata along the route.

Issued in denominations of $1,000, the bonds will be retired annually from Dec. 1, 1962, through Dec. 1, 1971. City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate will set the securities to investment houses via sealed bids. Most of the money will be used to repay a federal loan advanced to finance the planning.

Man Escapes From Old Jail At Salineville

Area police were alerted for a Salineville demolition worker who early today dug and hammered his way through a brick wall of the Salineville jail where he was being held for assault and battery.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott said Robert Sturgill of Water St. would be charged as a jail escapee and will also be required to pay for damages to the structure.

Sturgill was charged last night with assault and battery on complaint of his wife, and placed in the old brick jail at the rear of Village Hall by Deputy Marshal Tom Wilson and Joe Keating, auxiliary policeman. A 1 a. m. check showed him still in jail.

But when Chief Mellott went to the jail at 7:30 a. m. he found only a 14-foot square hole in the wall facing the Village Hall.

Sturgill had apparently torn some 2-x-4 pieces from the ceiling and dug at the wall, aided by a metal bar he obtained somewhere, according to Mellott, who said the prisoner was employed by a firm demolishing locks in the Ohio River and who put some of his job techniques to use.

Elimination Of Redemptions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elimination of sales tax stamp redemptions—a move which could bring down the wrath of religious and charity groups—is in the wind in the Ohio House.

Informed legislative sources said a subcommittee of the House Taxation Committee is prepared to make the elimination proposal. The move was foreshadowed in the 1959 legislature.

At that time, groups which had been financing many of their good works through money collected from the state in stamp redemptions fought bitterly against a proposal of Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to ditch the entire sales tax stamp system.

DiSalle came within inches, then, of eliminating stamps altogether.

As explained to newsmen, a bipartisan proposal in the Taxation Committee would keep the stamp system—because of a big tax col-

4 Men Injured When Car Hits Tree In Crash

Auto Collides With Another And Driver Blames Cat In Road

Two Wellsville men were hospitalized and two others injured when their car struck a parked auto, ripped out a sign post and then slammed into a tree on Aten Ave., Wellsville, Monday night at 9:15.

Donald R. Hickman, 22, of 2206 Danbury Ave., the driver, told police he lost control of his car when he swerved to avoid hitting a cat.

Police said Hickman was headed into Wellsville on outer Aten — Route 39 — when he left the highway and struck a parked car owned by Thomas T. Miller of Daniel St., Toronto.

The car then swerved back onto the highway and knocked over a speed limit sign at Crawford Ave. It continued on, finally coming to a halt against a tree at 812 Aten. The car traveled 280 feet after hitting the Miller vehicle, police said.

Admitted to City Hospital were Elmer Hawk, 21, of 1912 Nevada St. who is in "fair" condition today with a possible fractured right hip and leg, and John Edward Smith, 19, of 1747 1/2 Main St., who is in "fairly good" condition with lacerations of the nose, left cheek and left leg and multiple lacerations of the entire face. Hawk was a passenger in the front seat while Smith was in the rear.

Assembly Again May Face Issue On Sales Tax Stamp

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elimination of sales tax stamp redemptions—a move which could bring down the wrath of religious and charity groups—is in the wind in the Ohio House.

Informed legislative sources said a subcommittee of the House Taxation Committee is prepared to make the elimination proposal. The move was foreshadowed in the 1959 legislature.

At that time, groups which had been financing many of their good works through money collected from the state in stamp redemptions fought bitterly against a proposal of Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to ditch the entire sales tax stamp system.

DiSalle came within inches, then, of eliminating stamps altogether.

As explained to newsmen, a bipartisan proposal in the Taxation Committee would keep the stamp system—because of a big tax collection lag if the stamps are abolished. The stamps are "prepaid"—that is, they are bought by merchants before they are issued. Without stamps, the sales tax would be an after-the-fact levy, picking up the tax pennies after the sales are made, rather than before.

For 21 years—until 1959—sales tax stamps were redeemable at 3 per cent of their face value as an enforcement measure. The legislature, two years ago, cut the redemption rate to 2 per cent.

The major tax-stamp development came as the Republican-controlled House considered a brief delay in a revision of the state's system of collecting bills for the care of mental patients.

The bill was due for a House vote Wednesday, but DiSalle got a report Saturday which he had requested from the American Psychiatric Association and asked the House to delay action until the report can be analyzed.

$1,700 Fire Blamed On Broken Light Bulb

A broken light bulb was blamed for a fire which caused a total of $1,700 damage to a combination barn and garage at the home of Charles McKinnon of 25th St. Heights, Wellsville, Monday night at 8:25.

The Wellsville volunteer fire department responded to the call. Firemen said the bulb apparently burst and fell into some straw.

Some $1,000 damage resulted to the building, $300 to contents and $400 to a car parked inside.

The McKinnon home, owned by Norman Mobley of near Wellsville, is about a mile outside the city limits.

Neglect Of Duty

3 Officers Cited In Tower Tumble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has charged three officers with neglect of duty in connection with the deaths of 28 men Jan. 15 when a Texas Tower radar station tumbled into the Atlantic during a howling gale.

The Air Defense Command, in an announcement released Monday by the Defense Department said the charges were made as a result of a preliminary investigation.

The accused officers: Col. William M. Banks, who was acting commander of the Boston Air Defense Sector at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, N.Y., charged with culpable negligence and dereliction of duty.

Maj. William A. Sheppard, commander of the 4604th Support Squadron at Otis AFB, Mass., charged with dereliction of duty.

Maj. Reginald L. Stark, acting commander of the squadron "during the critical period prior to the loss of the tower," charged with dereliction of duty.

The Air Force said the charges were based on the way the men "performed their duties immediately prior to the disaster" off the New Jersey coast.

The 4604th Squadron had direct responsibility for the tower, which was part of the coastal radar screen system to detect hostile aircraft. It was located about 85 miles southeast of New York. The tower nicknamed "old shaky" by its occupants, disappeared from the radar screens at 7:33 p.m. EST Jan. 15. That is accepted as the approximate time of the collapse.

There were no survivors.

One of the controversies about the disaster is whether the tower could have been evacuated before it toppled into the ocean. It had been damaged by a series of hurricanes and was scheduled to be shut down for repairs Feb. 1.

Blacktop Plan At Salineville Draws Protest

Businessmen Object To Parking Ban If Project Is Approved

SALINEVILLE — Rejection of proposed blacktopping of Route 39 through the town loomed today following strong protests from businessmen concerning parking limitations connected with the state project.

About 25 attended a public meeting Monday night at the Village Hall at which a number of business operators declared the proposed highway project, for which the state asks a ban or only one side parking on parts of Main St., would reduce shopping in the town.

Warren Hayes of the Salineville Variety Store and Karl Lindner, former mayor and jewelry store operator, were among the chief spokesmen against the ordinance which Council had already approved on two readings.

Mayor Kenneth Leishman presided at the meeting at which Robert Jenkins of the Ohio Highway Department Division 11 at New Philadelphia outlined the state policy.

He said the state requires that any road undergoing improvement must be at least 30 feet wide, otherwise no state work can be done. He said any roadway smaller would not provide proper clearance for traffic, thus Council was asked to establish parking restrictions in order to receive the $30,000 project.

$241 Million Budget Asked By Lawrence

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania legislature received a capital funds budget totaling $241,653,991 from Gov. Lawrence Monday.

The money would be used solely for new construction and improvement of present facilities at state-operated and state-aided institutions in the next two years.

Lawrence, in an accompanying message, said the proposed outlay was "a budget for action—prompt action within the next few months and the immediate years ahead."

73 Will Seek Offices With New Borough

Ohio Township Will Become Ohioville Effective Jan. 1

Some 73 residents of Ohio Township, which becomes the Borough of Ohioville Jan. 1, have filed petitions for nominations to various offices and election duties at the May 16 primary in Beaver County.

The office of William B. Smith, director of the Bureau of Elections at Beaver, also announced names of those filing petitions in other communities, including Midland, Industry, Georgetown, Greene Township, Hanover Township, Hookstown and Shippingport.

Smith said only Glasgow Borough at Smiths Ferry and Frankfort Springs Borough had no one filing petitions. He said both communities thus lose the opportunity to receive such funds as liquid fuel tax refunds and those of the liquor control board.

He said the board advertised Monday for bids for printing about 140,000 ballots of which 115,000 will be official and 25,000 specimen. There will be 500 Democratic absentee, 500 Republican absentee, 500 Democratic military and 530 Republican military.

Roll-offs for positions on ballots will be held Wednesday at noon in the Assembly Room of the Beaver County Courthouse, Smith said. Monday was the last day to withdraw petitions and there were several, but none in the Midland area.

Some eight have filed for Beaver County jury commissioner, one to be elected for each party. They include Raymond E. Holzworth of Beaver, incumbent, Leland J. Schachern of Beaver Falls and Sam Urlick of Aliquippa, Democrat.

Bond Issue Authorized To Pay Freeway Share

Council approved legislation Monday night authorizing a $160,300 municipal bond issue to cover the city's share of the $6 million West End-California Hollow Freeway project.

Although the city's share of the project initially was set at over $500,000, State Highway Department concessions and a $100,000 grant from county commissioners reduced it to the cost of preparing detailed construction plans, which totaled $148,000, plus $18,000 for the cost of test borings to determine the earth strata along the route.

Issued in denominations of $1,000, the bonds will be retired annually from Dec. 1, 1962, through Dec. 1, 1971. City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate will sell the securities to investment houses via sealed bids. Most of the money will be used to repay a federal loan advanced to finance the planning.

Man Escapes From Old Jail At Salineville

Area police were alerted for a Salineville demolition worker who early today dug and hammered his way through a brick wall of the Salineville jail where he was being held for assault and battery.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott said Robert Sturgill of Water St. would be charged as a jail escapee and will also be required to pay for damages to the structure.

Sturgill was charged last night with assault and battery on complaint of his wife, and placed in the old brick jail at the rear of Village Hall by Deputy Marshal Tom Wilson and Joe Keating, auxiliary policeman. A 1 a. m. check showed him still in jail.

But when Chief Mellott went to the jail at 7:30 a. m. he found only a 14-foot square hole in the wall facing the Village Hall.

Sturgill had apparently torn some 2-x-4 pieces from the ceiling and dug at the wall, aided by a metal bar he obtained somewhere, according to Mellott, who said the prisoner was employed by a firm demolishing locks in the Ohio River and who put some of his job techniques to use.

Elimination Of Redemptions

Assembly Again May Face Issue On Sales Tax Stamp

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elimination of sales tax stamp redemptions—a move which could bring down the wrath of religious and charity groups—is in the wind in the Ohio House.

Informed legislative sources said a subcommittee of the House Taxation Committee is prepared to make the elimination proposal. The move was foreshadowed in the 1959 legislature.

At that time, groups which had been financing many of their good works through money collected from the state in stamp redemptions fought bitterly against a proposal of Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to ditch the entire sales tax stamp system.

DiSalle came within inches, then, of eliminating stamps altogether.

As explained to newsmen, a bipartisan proposal in the Taxation Committee would keep the stamp system—because of a big tax col-

4 Men Injured When Car Hits Tree In Crash

Auto Collides With Another And Driver Blames Cat In Road

Two Wellsville men were hospitalized and two others injured when their car struck a parked auto, ripped out a sign post and then slammed into a tree on Aten Ave., Wellsville, Monday night about 9:15.

Donald R. Hickman, 22, of 2206 Danbury Ave., the driver, told police he lost control of his car when he swerved to avoid hitting a cat.

Police said Hickman was headed into Wellsville on outer Aten — Route 39 — when he left the highway and struck a parked car owned by Thomas T. Miller of Daniel St., Toronto.

The car then swerved back onto the highway and knocked over a speed limit sign at Crawford Ave. It continued on, finally coming to a halt against a tree at 812 Aten. The car traveled 280 feet after hitting the Miller vehicle, police said.

Purchase Of City Materials Slated

Council agreed Monday night to consider legislation at its next meeting April 3 authorizing purchase of a year's supply of chemicals and other materials for the water department.

W. O. Schneider, chairman of the Board of Public Utilities, said in a letter to Council sealed bids will be asked on 250 tons each of hydrate or pebble lime, aluminum sulfate and activated carbon; 1,800 pounds of liquid chlorine, 5,000 pounds of sodium chlorite, 100 water meters of various sizes and about 4,000 feet of cast iron pipe.

THE CHEMICALS are used at the water purification plant in Klondyke. Each spring, the utilities board receives bids on which it signs contracts for a year's supply of chemicals and other materials.

On a motion by Councilman John Melvin, finance committee chairman, Council referred the request to the ordinance committee for preparation of enabling legislation.

In other business, Councilman John Kelly, reporting for the street committee, said a request has been approved for installation of a traffic light on Lisbon St. at Fisher Park to safeguard children crossing the highway on their way to and from the LaCroft School.

However, the type of signal which will be erected has not been determined definitely, Kelly said. Council also understands that the State Highway Department plans to erect a signal further west on Lisbon St. — outside the city limits—to safeguard LaCroft students crossing the highway at that point, Kelly said.

THE REQUEST for the signal at Fisher Park, near Boring Ln., was presented to Council several weeks ago by Councilman Robert Laughlin and a committee from the LaCroft Parent-Teacher Association.

Three women residents of Dresden Ave. appeared before Council personally with requests and complaints.

Mrs. Clayton Gourley Jr. and Mrs. Daniel Gourley joined in a request that the city erect guardrails in front of their property as a safeguard against traffic on the busy highway.

Mrs. Clayton Gourley said her children play in the front yard and they are in danger of being killed or injured seriously if a vehicle goes off the highway. Mrs. Daniel Gourley said her home has been hit "several times" in the last few years by cars that careened off the road.

MRS. SARAH Oakes, 1945 Dresden Ave., complained of a long-standing drainage problem. She said surface water flows onto her property. Mrs. Oakes' complaint was referred to Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver. The street committee was asked to investigate the two requests for guardrails.

Councilman Norman Bucher moved for presentation of legislation April 3 specifically exempting the SUB pay of unemployed steelworkers from the city income tax. He made the motion on behalf of Councilman Donald Hancock, who was presiding as president pro tem and therefore disqualified from initiating a motion.

Hancock announced plans for the legislative proposal last week. He said the tax ordinance should be amended so no question can be raised about the liability of steelworkers to pay on their supplementary unemployment benefits.

COUNCIL RECEIVED and filed a letter from State Rep. J. Warren Bettis explaining he voted in committee against House Bill 38, a proposal that would eliminate city health departments in all Ohio communities under 50,000, turning over their duties to a single countywide agency. Bettis assured Council he also will vote against the proposal again if it is presented on the floor of the House.

Council received a claim for auto damage from Richard Feldman, 3285 St. Clair Ave., who said his car struck a chuckhole on St. Clair Ave. at Blackmore St. March 6. He submitted two estimates — one for $114 and one for $140.

Laughlin presented a petition asking installation of a street light at Grandview, Francis, Janet and Logan Sts. on Pleasant Heights. The petition said there is no street light at present for 1,000 feet in any direction. It bore 10 signatures.

Hancock presided because President Charles N. Edwards is acting mayor while Mayor Bert H. Goodballet is out of town. Councilman Donald Smith was excused. The meeting opened with invocation by Maj. William Hathorn of the Salvation Army.

Mission Store Closing Slated

Closing of the Christ Mission Store at the corner of 4th and Market Sts. is planned April 1 by the Christ Mission Goodwill Industries of Youngstown.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCall of Lisbon St., operators of the city branch, said they received a letter Saturday from the Youngstown headquarters that the store will be closed, effective April 1, "because of the present economic situation."

The Christ Mission Goodwill Industries operates three stores in Youngstown, another in Salem and one in Warren. The stores primarily sell used furniture, clothing and appliances of all types after they are reconditioned.

Most of the items are donated and restored to condition by workshop employees. The Goodwill Industries employs about 130 when operating at full capacity.

The city branch has been in operation five years. It was located for two years on W. 6th St. and moved to the corner of 4th and Market Sts. three years ago last September.

The Goodwill Industries uses the proceeds of the store sales to operate summer camps for underprivileged children and the aged, in addition to nurseries and rescue missions.

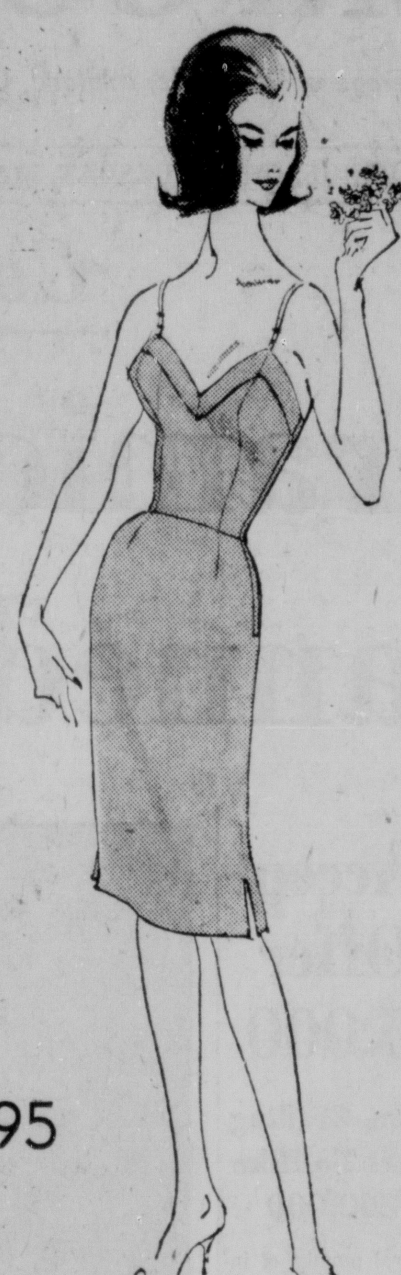

Mr. and Mrs. McCall said the letter informed them that the store must be vacated by April 1 and requested all customers with lay-bys on order to pick up their merchandise as soon as possible. She added the store in East Liverpool has done a "very good business" and has "paid its own way" since it opened here in 1956.

Farm Housing Loans In Sight

The farm housing loan program in Columbiana County is expected to pick up momentum with the allotment of an additional $50 million to the Farmers Home Administration, according to Marion Marquart, supervisor of the Carrollton office.

The additional money is available for 4 per cent loans to farm owners to build or repair farm houses and essential buildings, and the loans may be spread over 33 years, Marquart said.

The main demand in this area is expected to continue to be for loans for new construction. However, some farm owners may need the credit to repair or remodel dwellings, install pressure water supply systems, central heating, bathrooms and other conveniences.

Other uses include building, repairing or modernizing barns, dairy and poultry facilities and other farm service buildings.

Those eligible are owners of farms that annually will produce at least $400 worth of commodities for sale or home use based on 1944 prices, but who cannot be financed adequately through other sources.

Additional information may be obtained from Marquart's office in the Public Square in Carrollton.

Farm Housing Loans In Sight

The farm housing loan program in Columbiana County is expected to pick up momentum with the allotment of an additional $50 million to the Farmers Home Administration, according to Marion Marquart, supervisor of the Carrollton office.

The additional money is available for 4 per cent loans to farm owners to build or repair farm houses and essential buildings, and the loans may be spread over 33 years, Marquart said.

The main demand in this area is expected to continue to be for loans for new construction. However, some farm owners may need the credit to repair or remodel dwellings, install pressure water supply systems, central heating, bathrooms and other conveniences.

Other uses include building, repairing or modernizing barns, dairy and poultry facilities and other farm service buildings.

Those eligible are owners of farms that annually will produce at least $400 worth of commodities for sale or home use based on 1944 prices, but who cannot be financed adequately through other sources.

Additional information may be obtained from Marquart's office in the Public Square in Carrollton.

Ohio's Road Money Formula

The formula for distributing gasoline taxes and motor vehicle registration funds among Ohio's local governments has gone astray.

This has come about over the years for a number of reasons. But two stand out above the others:

1. The taxes for building and maintaining highways have been doled out in too many cases on a basis of whichever government—state, county, city or township—could put the most pressure on the legislature.
2. The shuffle of population since World War II.

There was a time before city residents made a mass exodus to the suburbs, when township roads weren't a serious problem. But in the last 16 years, hundreds of thousands of Ohio's city residents have moved out into the townships.

THUS THE PROBLEM of providing them with streets has been magnified many times over by the sheer weight of their numbers.

If Ohio's annexation laws had been more liberal, the cities could have expanded to assume responsibility of maintaining roads in areas that were annexed.

The ideal situation, of course, would be for this session of the legislature to re-adjust the formulas for distributing the highway dollars to local governments.

This, however, is almost an impossibility because of the complexity of the problems.

The only realistic solution appears to be for the House or Senate, or both, to ask the Legislative Service Commission to make a thorough study of the distribution formulas.

This study is long overdue, but perhaps the needs study made by the State Highway Department and Ohio State University can serve as the basis for the Legislative Service Commission's study.

IT SHOULD BE incumbent on some branch of state government to make such studies periodically. The reason is that the need for highways at the various levels of government could fluctuate every few years.

The federal interstate highway program has been a boon to Ohio's superhighway program. Billions of dollars are being spent to build the new freeways.

But how about other road needs in the state, in the counties and cities and townships?

They must be brought up to minimum standards of some type, and the only way that will ever be possible is for highway tax dollars to be distributed on an equitable basis.

If this session of Ohio's legislature accomplishes nothing more than to launch a program to correct this deplorable and critical situation, it will have been of great service to the motoring public.

Round And Round He Goes

Vital Questions

By David Lawrence

The Professors Criticize The Court

Not so very long ago those persons who publicly criticized the Supreme Court of the United States for its "desegregation" decision were being accused of "defiance of our judicial institutions" or of trying to "undermine their prestige."

But no such treatment probably is in store for the 250 "leading American professors" in 79 universities and colleges who have just issued to the press of the nation a bitter statement criticizing the Supreme Court.

They object to the fact that the Supreme Court in two successive cases has declared constitutional the right of the house committee on Un-American Activities to require witnesses under certain circumstances to answer questions about Communist activities in America. Indeed, this today is "the law of the land."

The professors, in their statement, contend that they are "dedicated to the proposition that free enquiry and free expression nourish mental growth and are thus basic to the nation's growth."

Then the same 250 professors go on to demand the "abolition" of the House committee because they do not agree with its expressions of opinion or its attempts to elicit information about Communist operations in this country.

While the same statement condemns "trial by publicity," the officials of the American Civil Liberties Union—who say they "canvassed" the professors to obtain their signatures—announce that this organization is "engaged in a long-range campaign" against the continuance of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

It is not clear just what the professors want to accomplish outside or inside American colleges and universities, though there is an implication that they believe they have a right to carry this type of controversy directly into their classrooms.

Presumably there would be nobody with similar knowledge present on the other side to rebut their arguments before the students.

THE PROFESSORS, in their statement, complain that "many teachers in the colleges and universities, as well as in the public schools, have grown timid about stating, even for classroom discussion, ideas which someone later might interpret as subversive."

What the professors really object to is the effort of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to do something which none of the executive agencies like the CIA or the FBI can do—namely, to expose in the midst of the "cold war" the workings of the Communist apparatus inside the United States.

The professors who signed the latest petition do not hesitate to identify themselves with the prestige conveyed by the names of the universities and colleges that employ them. Thus the statement, in giving the list of the 250 professors, attaches in each case the name of the university or college where they teach and their subjects. The following notation is included:

The institutional affiliation of the remaining signers is for the purposes of identification only and in no way commits the institution to the views expressed.

Why is it necessary to "identify" these professors by using the name of their respective colleges and universities and by specifying the subjects they teach?

Will the general public assume that, because these professors hold such positions, they perhaps reflect the views of a substantial number of other professors who were or were not "canvassed"?

THERE ARE, for example, among the signers 13 professors from Harvard, 13 from Yale and 5 from Princeton.

Is the public to infer that the board of trustees of Harvard or Yale or Princeton or the faculty of each approves the use of the names of their universities in the public prints hereafter as an attachment to any political-propaganda document regardless of content?

Will the parents of students in those universities feel any concern that some professors holding views of this kind will dominate discussions of communism in the classroom?

Will some of the donors of funds to the various universities begin to harbor fears that such funds may be used to hire professors who advocate that a gag be imposed on the free expression of ideas by a committee of Congress—especially on a topic of vital importance to the security and safety of the United States?

These are questions that naturally will arise now. The professors, in their statement, concede that "the committee has latterly improved its hearing manners" but this apparently isn't enough—they demand that the committee be abolished altogether, notwithstanding the fact that the courts specifically are empowered to correct any abuses in the conduct of hearings.

The late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once defined "free speech" as "freedom for the thought we hate" but these college professors don't want the House Committee on Un-American Activities even to exist, let alone to speak out under the free-speech clause of the Constitution—which, incidentally, applies not only to the signers of petitions but also to members of Congress and its committees.

Mum Looks Like System

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON
Mum looks like more than just a word in the Kennedy administration. It looks like a system.

It goes this way for the top men around the President: If you have something big to say, let Kennedy say it.

Take G. Mennen Williams, for instance.

This six-term governor of Michigan and now assistant secretary of state for African affairs was never renowned for his quietude.

Even on his just-completed tour of Africa some American allies felt he talked too much when he simply said: Africa for the Africans.

When he returned Monday he spoke pretty freely to reporters on everything except what they most wanted to know: What did he recommend to Kennedy?

He said he'd leave it up to the President to disclose that, if he wanted to.

Then there was Robert S. McNamara who goofed when he talked and has said practically nothing since.

Early last February McNamara, secretary of defense, told reporters he couldn't find a missile gap. For the Democrats this was almost as bad as if he had said he didn't believe in home and mother. All through the 1960 political year the Democrats worried out loud that Russia was ahead in missiles.

Even Kennedy in the campaign talked of the "missile gap."

Kennedy lost no time telling reporters there really couldn't be any conclusions on missiles yet because McNamara hadn't finished studying them.

Later, in a letter to Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen, McNamara denied that he had said the United States was either behind or ahead of Russia in the missile race.

One member of the Kennedy cabinet—Arthur Goldberg, secretary of labor—has probably made more public statements than all the other members put together.

But it might be noted any opinions he expressed, mostly about unemployment and depressed areas, were only echoes of what Kennedy had said.

Goldberg's speeches, statements and trips around have really been missionary work for Kennedy's program.

The two most forceful secretaries of state in recent years—Dean Acheson under President Truman and John Foster Dulles under President Eisenhower—were great talkers on their own.

But Kennedy's secretary of state, Dean Rusk, has played in a low key, letting his boss do the main talking on foreign affairs.

This writer asked one of the men close to Rusk if this is how the new secretary plans to operate.

This was the answer: That's very perceptive.

As for the rest of the Kennedy Cabinet: They're sticking to their knitting. So far this has been a one man show, Kennedy's.

Odd Facts

First U. S. president ever to make regular use of an automobile during his administration was William Howard Taft. The first President who had ever driven a car himself was Warren G. Harding.

According to the latest census, there are five cities in the United States with more than a million population, not including metropolitan areas—New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, and Detroit.

Nearly nine out of every 10 American adults drink coffee. There are 318 million cups of coffee consumed every day in the U. S., which works out to about three or four cups per adult.

The Pants Industry Fights Back

By Victor Riesel

There's one industry that has really had to pull in its belt. That's the pants business. The Orient is crushing it beneath a load of 45 million pairs of men's trousers and women's slacks dumped in the United States this last year.

And Jack Potofsky, president of the men's clothing union, quietly has asked John Kennedy for a long private talk to convince the President not to oppose a boycott of Tokyo's manufacturers.

Mr. Potofsky, soft voiced even in anger, is fond of Mr. Kennedy. But he insists the chief executive has been "misinformed." Potofsky and other leaders of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers union likely fear that Japan may wipe out our multimillion dollar clothing industry and add hundreds of thousands of needle workers to the unemployed.

It's not only pants, it's 35 million shirts from Japan and Hong Kong sold here last year. Shirts and pants are but two of a host of U. S. items threatened by the Japanese apparel industry.

Furthermore, Potofsky points out that the Japanese began building their export apparel industry exactly two years ago, in March 1959.

The first year they sold 20 million pants and slacks. The second year they more than doubled their sales here.

IN FIVE YEARS they'll wipe out this part of the manufacturing business in the U. S. This is the same Japanese cloth industry which sells U. S. producers up to $35 million worth of woolen fabrics a year.

The same Japanese producers who sell us the woollens now also are making hand tailored suits and selling them in the U. S. for $45—thus competing with and underselling the same American manufacturers who buy their woollens.

Thus, Potofsky insists that unless his union rejects the President's criticism and does boycott Japanese fabrics, the same thing will happen in suits that has occurred in pants.

In a decade our men's clothing industry could be virtually extinct. Potofsky's decision to beard the President in his den, clothes the men's garment crisis in high drama. This is the first time a veteran New Deal labor leader has publicly criticized the new President.

Whatever else happens inside the White House when the two men talk, Potofsky really will be battling for a string of other industries hit by Japan.

THOUGH THE PUBLIC is generally unaware of the depth of this Japanese economic thrust, imports from the Orient have thrown thousands out of factories making baseball gloves, imitation pearls, transparent raincoats, chinaware, pottery, plastic handbags, hat bodies, glass beads, bracelets, costume jewelry and chemicals as well as the radio and TV field.

It is little known for example, that Japan sells 90 per cent of our baseball gloves.

Their tales of woe are as grim as the saga of the pants imports from the Orient. In each case, pressure from the State Department mutes the protests of our own industrialists, who are made to feel like traitors to our Japanese ally.

Our friends from Tokyo do not hesitate to join with our enemies. For example, the commercially minded gentlemen from Japan have only recently signed a trade pact with "Bulgarian People's Republic." The pact was made on Feb. 24.

Tokyo will sell Sofia the very product the White House has refused to help Moscow make—ball bearings.

A few weeks ago Mr. Kennedy killed a sale of 45 U. S. ball bearing machines to Russia because this equipment could be used for weapons against us. So now the Japanese agree to sell the finished bearings to a Soviet satellite.

NOR IS THAT ALL. Japan will sell the Bulgarian state trust intricate machinery, ships, steel, aluminum, artificial tires, plastics, chemicals. All of these certainly bolster the Soviet bloc war-making apparatus.

Furthermore, the Japanese have agreed to buy Bulgarian tobacco, alcoholic drinks, carpets, lead, and zinc. What's wrong with our tobacco? Our own growers in Connecticut and the South could use more orders. Also I know a few depressed areas which could use those Japanese orders for carpets, lead and zinc.

If the Japanese want loyalty and sacrifice from us, how about some reciprocal sacrifice?

It is good, therefore, to hear Jack Potofsky, talking for his own union, fight for all our back-to-the-wall workers and businessmen, when he says:

"We are not prepared... to see our standards undermined, our jobs jeopardized and our industry demoralized by intransigence from abroad or by the failure of our foreign economic policy to adjust to the realities of the rapidly changing world."

No one wants to hurt an ally. But neither does anyone want to commit hara-kiri.

Revenge Is Sweet

By Truman Twill

A friend has sent me a clipping of a column by Lucius Beebe to test my reaction. The column comes to the defense of animals given a bad name by men.

Or, if the animals aren't given a bad name, they sometimes are patronized by men, in the insupportable illusion that men are superior to other members of the animal kingdom. This strikes Beebe as absurd.

Specifically, it annoys him that a sea lion which took some bites out of a skindiver along the Monterey coast has been put on the defensive. Beebe takes the position that the sea lion had every right to resent a trespasser and that the skindiver was in the wrong. I say, "Amen."

First, last and always, I am on the side of the animals in these situations. When a skunk smells up an automobile that has smashed it on a highway built through its native habitat, I squeal with pleasure. It is small revenge for the wrongs inflicted on skunks.

Nothing happens to me so much as reading about a lion or a tiger in a circus act that has taken all it can stand of guns fired in the air and whips cracking over its back and claws its persecutor. After all, the United States fought a war once over the abuse of enslaved creatures who had not asked to be brought here.

I resent the way laws are rigged against dogs and the way cats that disturbed them at night I have plotted ways to get even by training a cat to shoot a human for disturbing it in the daytime. "Buffalo Bill" gave me the creeps, because its possessor distinguished himself on this earth only by slaughtering masses of helpless buffalo to satisfy the appetites of marauders who should have been forced to dispose of the native fauna humanely, including the Indians they also slaughtered to make way for cheap whisky, dirty politics, thieving and conniving in frontier America.

There never has been an animal capable of genocide. With a few exceptions, animals are cruel only in the process of satisfying their hunger, and even then their slaughter methods are gentle compared with the brutality still practiced by humans.

Hunting accidents over a me-

When the Nimrods blow off each other's head, I find only one thing to be remorseful about—that they haven't come close to making up for all the heads they have blown off rabbits, pheasants, ducks and other innocent wildlife.

I get a buzz out of snakes sinking their fangs into their captors and wardens, especially if the snakes are poisonous. It seems to me that snakes have enough problems if let strictly alone, without being dragged around the country by sadists too lazy to make a living in honest work.

Bears in Yellowstone, sharks that take a quick lunch out of ocean bathers, porcupines that get a fair shot at exposed flesh, cats that get in a good job of scratching when cornered, even pigeons equipped with bombights give me a sense of equilibrium and balance in a world overweighted in favor of the human race.

Everybody has his own hunch about which animals would rise to the top if men and their terrifying weapons and sick ideas finally were out of their welcome. My hunch is that it may be seals—something at home in the element that covers the greater part of the earth. Men never have been too handy in water anyway, and if they run into bad luck when they get away from dry land it serves them right for messing around where they have no right to be.

That, sir, is my reaction.

Superhighways are important but Mortimer Topblower has founded the National Society for Preservation of the Restful Country brook, "Not an old homestead, trout brook, lily lily pond, sylvan dell, old swimming hole, colonial landmark, tree or shrub is safe any longer," he declared.

"It is impossible for a man in an auto to relax, enjoy the scenery and get home refreshed. He can drive all day and not hear a bird, see a field of cows, smell country cooking or observe a haystack, a barefoot boy, a waterfall or a covered bridge," Topblower went on. He is appealing to President Kennedy to supplement superhighway program with a Rescue-Some-Rural-Roads Program.

Millions of autoists would get a kick out of country roads bearing such signs as "Drive Leisurely and Enjoy Your Trip," "Relax While in Motion," "Danger, Exit Onto Modern Superhighway Dead Ahead," and "One Mile To Modern Traffic. He is for disarmament of steam-crawlers, and would compel all superhighway boards to take out licenses good for six months only. "There may not be a missile gap between America and Russia, but there is a safe and sane country-road gap between U. S. and almost all countries. We are at the wrong end," he says. There are moments when he comes out for execution walls for engineers who bump off lovely old homes, slash up eye-filling sylvan glades, punch holes in picturesque hills and blast natural beauty off the earth in order to help wild-eyed motorists save time between hotdog stands.

Your officers are in fine shape. Only one is out with a bad knee.

Predictions of a stock split were premature and a vice president's statement that the split would be 100-1 or better was due to his confusing facts with overoptimism.

Your corporation is interested in certain mergers for purposes of diversification and has negotiated with Federated Dog Tracks and Electric Rabbit Mfg. Corp. as well as with U. S. Jolting Company which controls all the signs reading "Disqualification."

It is also interested in acquiring Universal Hog Dogs, Inc. and Acme Crying Towels.

Ohio's Road Money Formula

The formula for distributing gasoline taxes and motor vehicle registration funds among Ohio's local governments has gone astray. This has come about over the years for a number of reasons. But two stand out above the others:

1. The taxes for building and maintaining highways have been doled out in too many cases on a basis of whichever government—state, county, city or township—could put the most pressure on the legislature.
2. The shuffle of population since World War II.

There was a time before city residents made a mass exodus to the suburbs, when township roads weren't a serious problem. But in the last 16 years, hundreds of thousands of Ohio's city residents have moved out into the townships.

THUS THE PROBLEM of providing them with streets has been magnified many times over by the sheer weight of their numbers.

If Ohio's annexation laws had been more liberal, the cities could have expanded to assume responsibility of maintaining roads in areas that were annexed.

The ideal situation, of course, would be for this session of the legislature to readjust the formulas for distributing the highway dollars to local governments.

This, however, is almost an impossibility because of the complexity of the problems. The only realistic solution appears to be for the House or Senate, or both, to ask the Legislative Service Commission to make a thorough study of the distribution formulas. This study is long overdue, but perhaps the needs study made by the State Highway Department and Ohio State University can serve as the basis for the Legislative Service Commission's study.

IT SHOULD BE incumbent on some branch of state government to make such studies periodically. The reason is that the need for highways at the various levels of government could fluctuate every few years.

The federal interstate highway program has been a boon to Ohio's superhighway program. Billions of dollars are being spent to build the new freeways.

But how about other road needs in the state, in the counties and cities and townships?

They must be brought up to minimum standards of some type, and the only way that will ever be possible is for highway tax dollars to be distributed on an equitable basis.

If this session of Ohio's legislature accomplishes nothing more than to launch a program to correct this deplorable and critical situation, it will have been of great service to the motoring public.

No Bomb Half Small Enough

There were armchair generals who fought World War II from a safe distance, even being decorated afterward for brilliance and bravery. Currently, there is a crop of something different coming to maturity—armchair geniuses in cold warfare.

Chaos is typical of the challenge to workers in this field. One of the vexing things about cold war is that no one knows anything about it, because no one ever fought one before. Hot war is different. Everything about hot wars has been written in books which strategists study in "war colleges," then go forth to make the mistakes that always have determined who will win and who will lose hot wars.

No one knows at this moment just what presumably well-armed United Nations troops hacking their way to a concentration of witchcraft gangs in a remote part of the Congo are supposed to do. This is not even what armchair thinkers call a "brush war." This is more like a "weed war."

These people are still fighting with bows and arrows, spears and zip guns similar to those found in the street-gang warriors of New York City. There is no bomb half small enough to prevail against their puny efforts—not even a pre-World-War-II bomb that only destroyed what it hit.

It is something like the situation that confronted the dauntless Italians when they invaded Ethiopia with the most modern armament their military genius, Benito Mussolini, could provide. The Ethiopians had bows and arrows and spears, too. They rode horses and camels and were expert with a certain kind of sharp knife that was said to have terrorized the Italians more than the Ethiopians were terrorized by Il Duce's tanks, airplanes, machine guns and intrepid warriors with repeating rifles, bayonets and other refinements of civilization.

The Italians won, of course, but not until the Ethiopians had tied them in knots because Il Duce had sent a man to do a boy's work. This is the problem of "brush warfare" — "weed warfare" in the Congo situation. How do you swat a fly with heavy armament? What do you do in the nuclear era about a native with a blowgun and a handful of poisoned arrows if he runs amuck and defies civilization to blow him to Kingdom Come?

Jail's The Answer

A Pittsburgh judge, in tackling the problem in his own district, has added weight to the "numbers" crackdown launched here some time ago.

Judge Samuel A. Weiss, in addressing a new panel of Criminal Court jurors in the Pennsylvania city, pointed out that fines did little to curb the racket, so he has turned to jail terms as a more likely answer.

The same medicine had been "prescribed" earlier in Municipal Court here by Judge Chertoff, with the all-out cooperation of the Police Department. The results have been gratifying.

Judge Weiss revived another point that deserves repeating. He reminded the jurors they could further hinder the "numbers" racket by resisting the urge to play a number, if so inclined. This, of course, applies not only to jurors, but to everyone else. The appeal, however, while the simple solution to the problem, has brought few results to date, so the sterner measures must be continued.

Things will remain rough for the "numbers" writes so long as the likes of Judge Chertoff and Judge Weiss keep cracking down. Continued jail sentences will help do the trick.

I resent the way laws are rigged against dogs and the way cats don't even get the benefit of a doubt. I have wanted to stand up and cheer a dozen times when dogs that have been pestered to distraction by kids finally did what came naturally and took a sample out of a kid's leg.

When people tell me how much fun they have had shooting cats that disturbed them at night I have plotted ways to get even by training a cat to shoot a human for disturbing it in the daytime. "Buffalo Bill" gave me the creeps, because its possessor distinguished himself on this earth only by slaughtering masses of helpless buffalo to satisfy the appetites of marauders who should have been forced to dispose of the native fauna humanely, including the Indians they also slaughtered to make way for cheap whisky, dirty politics, thieving and conniving in frontier America.

There never has been an animal capable of genocide. With a few exceptions, animals are cruel only in the process of satisfying their hunger, and even then their slaughter methods are gentle compared with the brutality still practiced by humans.

Hunting accidents over my me-

When the Nimrods blow off each other's head, I find only one thing to be remorseful about—that they haven't come close to making up for all the heads they have blown off rabbits, pheasants, ducks and other innocent wildlife.

I get a buzz out of snakes sinking their fangs into their captors and w a r d e n s, especially if the snakes are poisonous. It seems to me that snakes have enough problems if let strictly alone, without being dragged around the country by sadists too lazy to make a living in honest work.

Bears in Yellowstone, sharks that take a quick lunch out of ocean bathers, porcupines that get a fair shot at exposed flesh, cats that get in a good job of scratching when cornered, even pigeons equipped with bombshells give me a sense of equilibrium and balance in a world overweighted in favor of the human race.

Everybody has his own hunch about which animals would rise to the top if men and their terrifying weapons and sick ideas finally were out of their welcome. My hunch is that it may be seals—something at home in the element that covers the greater part of the earth. Men never have been too handy in water anyway, and if they run into bad luck when they get away from dry land it serves them right for messing around where they have no right to be. That, sir, is my reaction.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. Ruth Friess was received as a new member of the Bid-in-Fun Club at the home of Mrs. Juanita Rockhold of Holiday St.

Mrs. S. S. Kelly was elected president of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the Second United Presbyterian Church.

TEN YEARS AGO — Jim Harris, Baldwin-Wallace College guard and a former All-Ohio performer for the East Liverpool Potters, received honorable mention on the Associated Press All-Ohio squad.

Vital Questions

By David Lawrence

The Professors Criticize The Court

Not so very long ago those persons who publicly criticized the Supreme Court of the United States for its "desegregation" decision were being accused of "defiance of our judicial institutions" or of trying to "undermine their prestige." But no such treatment probably is in store for the 250 "leading American professors" in 79 universities and colleges who have just issued to the press of the nation a bitter statement criticizing the Supreme Court.

They object to the fact that the Supreme Court in two successive cases has declared constitutional the right of the house committee on Un-American Activities to require witnesses under certain circumstances to answer questions about Communist activities in America. Indeed, this today is "the law of the land."

The professors, in their statement, contend that they are "dedicated to the proposition that free enquiry and free expression nourish mental growth and are thus basic to the nation's growth."

Then the same 250 professors go on to demand the "abolition" of the House committee because they do not agree with its expressions of opinion or its attempts to elicit information about Communist operations in this country.

While the same statement condemns "trial by publicity," the officials of the American Civil Liberties Union — who say they "canvassed" the professors to obtain their signatures — announce that this organization is "engaged in a long-range campaign" against the continuance of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

It is not clear just what the professors want to accomplish outside or inside American colleges and universities, though there is an implication that they believe they have a right to carry this type of controversy directly into their classrooms.

Presumably there would be no body with similar knowledge present on the other side to rebut their arguments before the students.

THE PROFESSORS, in their statement, complain that "many teachers in the colleges and universities, as well as in the public schools, have grown timid about stating, even for classroom discussion, ideas which someone later might interpret as subversive."

What the professors really object to is the effort of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to do something which none of the executive agencies like the CIA or the FBI can do — namely, to expose in the midst of the "cold war" the workings of the Communist apparatus inside the United States.

The professors who signed the latest petition do not hesitate to identify themselves with the prestige conveyed by the names of the universities and colleges that employ them. Thus the statement, in giving the list of the 250 professors, attaches in each case the name of the university or college where they teach and their subjects. The following notation is included:

The institutional affiliation of the remaining signers is for the purposes of identification only and in no way commits the institution to the views expressed."

Why is it necessary to "identify" these professors by using the name of their respective colleges and universities and by specifying the subjects they teach?

Will the general public assume that, because these professors hold such positions, they perhaps reflect the views of a substantial number of other professors who were or were not "canvassed"?

THERE ARE, for example, among the signers 18 professors from Harvard, 13 from Yale and 5 from Princeton.

Is the public to infer that the board of trustees of Harvard or Yale or Princeton or the faculty of each approves the use of the names of their universities in the public prints hereafter as an attachment to any political-propaganda document regardless of content?

Will the parents of students in those universities feel any concern that some professors holding views of this kind will dominate discussions of communism in the classroom?

Will some of the donors of funds to the various universities begin to harbor fears that such funds may be used to hire professors who advocate that a gag be imposed on the free expression of ideas by a committee of Congress — especially on a topic of vital importance to the security and safety of the United States?

These are questions that naturally will arise now. The professors, in their statement, concede that "the committee has latterly improved its hearing manners" but this apparently isn't enough — they demand that the committee be abolished altogether, notwithstanding the fact that the courts specifically are empowered to correct any abuses in the conduct of hearings.

The late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once defined "free speech" as "freedom for the thought we hate" but these college professors don't want the House Committee on Un-American Activities even to exist, let alone to speak out under the free-speech clause of the Constitution — which, incidentally, applies not only to the signers of petitions but also to members of Congress and its committees.

Mum Looks Like System

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — Mum looks like more than just a word in the Kennedy administration. It looks like a system.

It goes this way for the top men around the President: If you have something big to say, let Kennedy say it.

Take G. Mennen Williams, for instance.

This six-term governor of Michigan and now assistant secretary of state for African affairs was never renowned for his quietude.

Even on his just-completed tour of Africa some American allies felt he talked too much when he simply said: Africa for the Africans.

When he returned Monday he spoke pretty freely to reporters on everything except what they most wanted to know: What did he recommend to Kennedy?

He said he'd leave it up to the President to disclose that, if he wanted to.

Then there was Robert S. McNamara who goofed when he talked and has said practically nothing since.

Early last February McNamara, secretary of defense, told reporters he couldn't find a missile gap. For the Democrats this was almost as bad as if he had said he didn't believe in home and mother. All through the 1960 political year the Democrats worried out loud that Russia was ahead in missiles.

Even Kennedy in the campaign talked of the "missile gap."

Kennedy lost no time telling reporters there really couldn't be any conclusions on missiles yet because McNamara hadn't finished studying them.

Later, in a letter to Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen, McNamara denied that he had said the United States was either behind or ahead of Russia in the missile race.

One member of the Kennedy cabinet—Arthur Goldberg, secretary of labor—has probably made more public statements than all the other members put together.

But it might be noted any opinions he expressed, mostly about unemployment and depressed areas, were only echoes of what Kennedy had said.

Goldberg's speeches, statements and trips around have really been missionary work for Kennedy's program.

The two most forceful secretaries of state in recent years—Dean Acheson under President Truman and John Foster Dulles under President Eisenhower — were great talkers on their own.

But Kennedy's secretary of state, Dean Rusk, has played in a low key, letting his boss do the main talking on foreign affairs.

This writer asked one of the men close to Rusk if this is how the new secretary plans to operate.

This was the answer: That's very perceptive.

As for the rest of the Kennedy Cabinet: They're sticking to their knitting. So far this has been a one man show, Kennedy's.

Odd Facts

First U. S. president ever to make regular use of an automobile during his administration was William Howard Taft. The first President who had ever driven a car himself was Warren G. Harding.

According to the latest census, there are five cities in the United States with more than a million population, not including metropolitan areas — New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, and Detroit.

Nearly nine out of every 10 American adults drink coffee. There are 318 million cups of coffee consumed every day in the U. S., which works out to about three or four cups per adult.

Southern Path Backed In Route 62 Relocation

Council enacted a resolution Monday night advocating a path south of the Columbiana-Mahoning County line for relocation of east-west State Route 62.

In its action, Council argued against an alternate proposal to relocate the road north of its present course, which would put it in Mahoning County. At present, Route 62 runs along the county line. Salem area residents have led the movement to have it relocated to the south when it is reconstructed.

Copies of Council's resolution will be sent to Highway Director E. S. Preston and Columbiana County's representatives in the General Assembly. Clarence Wetzel of Lisbon and J. Warren Bettis of Salineville.

erty was set at $90,000, including $60,000 for the building and $30,000 for the equipment.

In intervening weeks, the heirs shaved their price, meanwhile deciding to dispose of the equipment in the building separately, rather than requiring that it be included in the sale.

Some of the equipment now is being removed and sold, including the seats, projection machines and other items.

Solicitor Reports

Word that the way was clear for the purchase was reported to Council last night by Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper. Reporting on the negotiations in a caucus session following the regular meeting, he said all the heirs now have signed the written agreement on the sale price.

Several weeks were required for that phase of the transaction, as the agreement had to be mailed in turn to more than a half a dozen heirs in scattered parts of the nation.

Directly concerned in the operation of the theater for many years was William Tallman, now of Kent. In the last few years the theater operated, his son, William Tallman Jr., was in charge. However, he was killed in a traffic mishap in the Southwest a few years ago.

The theater was built about 1897 by the elder Tallman's father. It is by far the largest building of its size in the city—the only movie house here to boast a second balcony.

Location Seen Ideal

Councilman John Kelly, chairman of the street committee, declared that the lot's proximity to the heart of the business district on E. 5th St. makes it ideal for shoppers' use. By using Crook Alley as a shortcut, the shopper will be only 200 feet from the center of the shopping area, he said.

In part of the negotiations and planning, Council consulted with the downtown improvement committee of the East Liverpool Merchants Association, headed by Edwin Maloney. One of the committee's principal projects is provision of additional off-street parking space in the business area.

City Engineer George S. Bloomgren has drafted tentative plans for the parking arrangements on the site.

To Consider Legislation

In accepting the solicitor's report, Council agreed to consider preliminary enabling legislation for the purchase at its meeting April 3.

The Ceramic for many years featured some of the nation's leading play bills and variety acts. With the increasing popularity of motion pictures, it was converted into a movie house.

The theater has been dark for nearly two years.

Chester Mayor To Ask Work For Unemployed

Chester Mayor Ray Collins has announced he plans to write the director of a new West Virginia public works program state to find if some unemployed can be put to work cleaning up the Middle Run and city park area.

NEA President Urges Quality Education In County Address

LISBON — America must have "quality education" to advance the cause of freedom, the president of the National Education Association told 175 Columbiana County teachers Monday night at a dinner meeting in the Joshua Dixon School in Columbiana.

Miss Clarice Kline, a high school teacher at Waukesha, Wis., said that is why the NEA is supporting the proposal of President Kennedy for federal support to education. Her subject was the NEA's theme for the year "A Charge to Keep."

Miss Kline spoke proudly of the profession she heads. Referring to a meeting with the President two weeks ago, she said, "If you could have heard him talk on the importance of our profession and the schools of America, you would walk a little taller and a little prouder because you are a part of the schools."

Miss Kline was introduced by

Mrs. Ethel Clunk of Columbiana schools. Mrs. Vera Frayser, president of the Columbiana Teachers Association, presided. East Palestine, Leetonia and Lisbon schools joined Columbiana in sponsoring Miss Kline's visit during her one-week speaking tour in Ohio.

Supt. D. W. Bailey of Columbiana gave the welcome and Miss Mildred Liston of Columbiana the invocation. Dinner was served by the Parent-Teacher Organization.

East Central Ohio Teachers Association was represented by Paul Blair of East Liverpool, president, and the Columbiana County Education Association by Jerry Russell of Wellsville, president and a teacher at No. 16 School.

Music furnished by Columbiana students was directed by Mrs. Gergette Warner, music instructor.

Mrs. Carolyn Orr, chairman of the social committee, presented Miss Kline with a gift.

NEA President Urges Quality Education In County Address

LISBON — America must have "quality education" to advance the cause of freedom, the president of the National Education Association told 175 Columbiana County teachers Monday night at a dinner meeting in the Joshua Dixon School in Columbiana.

Miss Clarice Kline, a high school teacher at Waukesha, Wis., said that is why the NEA is supporting the proposal of President Kennedy for federal support to education. Her subject was the NEA's theme for the year "A Charge to Keep."

Miss Kline spoke proudly of the profession she heads. Referring to a meeting with the President two weeks ago, she said, "If you could have heard him talk on the importance of our profession and the schools of America, you would walk a little taller and a little prouder because you are a part of the schools."

Miss Kline was introduced by

Mrs. Ethel Clunk of Columbiana schools. Mrs. Vera Fraysier, president of the Columbiana Teachers Association, presided. East Palestine, Leetonia and Lisbon schools joined Columbiana in sponsoring Miss Kline's visit during her one-week speaking tour in Ohio.

Supt. D. W. Bailey of Columbiana gave the welcome and Miss Mildred Liston of Columbiana the invocation. Dinner was served by the Parent-Teacher Organization.

East Central Ohio Teachers Association was represented by Paul Blair of East Liverpool, president, and the Columbiana County Education Association by Jerry Russell of Wellsville, president and a teacher at No. 16 School.

Music furnished by Columbiana students was directed by Mrs. Gerorgette Warner, music instructor.

Mrs. Carolyn Orr, chairman of the social committee, presented Miss Kline with a gift.

Appropriation For City Cut By $62,947

$20,533 to cover general fund accounts overdrawn in 1960; $22,374 as the expense of setting up the new tax collection system; $700 to pay additional costs of rented snow removal equipment after a heavy storm in early February and $2,500 to pay for a new police cruiser purchased about a month ago.

THE TOTAL COST of snow removal in early February was approximately $1,800, but the other items were covered by previous appropriations. They included $700 in overtime pay for street department employees and about $598 in wages paid to incinerator department workers who were "borrowed" for the snow-removal task.

The snow-removal job continued around the clock about three days. Except for the cutbacks in street department personnel, there will be no layoffs in 1961 and departments should operate on the same levels as in 1960, Melvin commented.

Within the general fund, the police department has been allocated $135,284 against $134,200 in 1960. The fire department's new appropriation is $147,810, compared with $150,010 last year. The Health Department has $25,065 for 1961 against $25,740 last year.

ALSO IN THE general fund, $34,000 is provided for street lighting, exactly the same amount as in 1960. A total of $10,400 has been allocated for Thompson Park, compared with $10,320 in 1960. Municipal Court's appropriation totals $20,120 against $20,490 for 1960.

Melvin pointed out that the County Budget Commission allocated $424,613 as the anticipated general fund revenue for 1960. That's $63,261 short of the amount required to operate general fund departments, accounting for the use of the income tax revenue to make up the difference, he explained.

Broken down, the general fund revenue for this year is: General property tax, $113,299; other sources, $267,600; fire department levy, $40,464; and Civilian Defense receipts, $3,250.

The $41,127 in anticipated income tax revenue which remains unencumbered "can be used to our best ability to set up a limited program of capital improvements," Melvin commented. "The blunt truth is that the city would be on the verge of bankruptcy at this time if it were not for the additional revenue the income tax will provide," he said.

CITING THE DECLINE in general fund revenue, he said severe cutbacks would have been required all along the line if the new tax money had not been available to make up the deficiency.

"Although we cut drastically in all departments, we could not entirely eliminate the need to use some of the income tax money for general operations," Melvin said.

With enactment of the ordinance, he asked all city department heads to check a regular check on expenditures and the balances left in their appropriations to make certain they are "living within their budget."

"EVERY DEPARTMENT head should keep track of the funds allocated to his department," Melvin said. "In that way, there will be a three-way check — the department head, the safety-service director's office and the auditor's office."

"I feel that regardless of what administration is in office in the future, it will come to the same conclusion we came to last fall — that it is impossible to operate the city with the funds derived from general taxation," Melvin commented. "The only future for the city government lies in the income tax."

"In most instances, when people think of the city government they visualize City Hall — a pile of brick and stone," Melvin said. "Actually, the city consists of over 22,000 people and we're all a part of it. I feel with public co-operation and understanding, the city government will pull out of its present financial condition."

CONCLUDING, Melvin said: "Once Council has appropriated the funds, it becomes the full responsibility of those administering the money to see that it is spent wisely. This responsibility cannot be disregarded."

The ordinance was passed unanimously. It contains an emergency clause which means it will go into effect immediately. Since Jan. 1, the city has been operating on a temporary appropriation ordinance which provided for wages through March 31.

Councilman Norman Bucher commended Melvin and other members of the finance committee for their work in drafting the appropriation. "We anticipate $150,000 from the income tax and so far we've used $109,000 of that amount," Councilman John Kelly commented. "For anyone who feels we don't need the new revenue, these figures tell them different."

THEN HE CITED the comparatively small amount that the city government receives out of the local real estate tax rate of $34.40 per $1,000 valuation. The school system gets $22.90, $3.40 is paid to the county, 20 cents goes to the state and the remaining $7.90 is the city's share, including funds from voted levies and to retire outstanding debt, Kelly said.

"So a person who owns a $9,000 house, which is valued for tax purposes at about a third of its true worth, is paying only about $24 a year toward operation of the city," Kelly commented.

Burglar Ransacks 2 Desks In Office Of City Physician

A burglar apparently left empty-handed after ransacking two desks in an entry of an East Liverpool physician's office early today, police reported.

The entry at the office of Dr. J. Fraser Jackson, 205 W. 6th St., was discovered at 3:20 this morning by Patrolman H. W. Bosworth while on routine patrol, police said. The physician resides on Park Way.

Entry was gained by throwing a brick through a 24-x-28-inch pane of glass in a rear door, police said, but apparently nothing was taken.

Meanwhile, loss in a burglary Sunday night at a market just one door away was estimated at $85 to $90 in cash. Intruders entered Alex's Carry-Out, 613 Jackson St., operated by James Cunningham, 303 Moore St. A cigar box containing currency was taken from a desk drawer.

Vandalism in a burglary at a vacant house at 288 Center St. was reported to police Monday afternoon at 12:30. "Considerable damage" to the interior was reported by the Hilbert Agency, which said the home is owned by the Veterans Administration, officers said.

$20,533 to cover general fund accounts overdrawn in 1960; $22,574 as the expense of setting up the new tax collection system; $700 to pay additional costs of rented snow removal equipment after a heavy storm in early February and $2,500 to pay for a new police cruiser purchased about a month ago.

THE TOTAL COST of snow removal in early February was approximately $1,800, but the other items were covered by previous appropriations. They included $700 in overtime pay for street department employees and about $598 in wages paid to incinerator department workers who were "borrowed" for the snow-removal task.

The snow-removal job continued around the clock about three days. Except for the cutbacks in street department personnel, there will be no layoffs in 1961 and departments should operate on the same levels as in 1960, Melvin commented.

Within the general fund, the police department has been allocated $135,284 against $134,200 in 1960. The fire department's new appropriation is $147,310, compared with $150,010 last year. The Health Department has $25,065 for 1961 against $25,740 last year.

ALSO IN THE general fund, $34,000 is provided for street lighting, exactly the same amount as in 1960. A total of $10,400 has been allocated for Thompson Park, compared with $10,320 in 1960. Municipal Court's appropriation totals $20,120 against $20,490 for 1960.

Melvin pointed out that the County Budget Commission allocated $424,613 as the anticipated general fund revenue for 1960. That's $63,261 short of the amount required to operate general fund departments, accounting for the use of the income tax revenue to make up the difference, he explained.

Broken down, the general fund revenue for this year is: General property tax, $115,299; other sources, $267,600; fire department levy, $40,464; and Civilian Defense receipts, $3,250.

The $41,127 in anticipated income tax revenue which remains uncommitted "can be used to our best ability to set up a limited program of capital improvements," Melvin commented. "The blunt truth is that the city would be on the verge of bankruptcy at this time if it were not for the additional revenue the income tax will provide," he said.

CITING THE DECLINE in general fund revenue, he said severe cutbacks would have been required all along the line if the new tax money had not been available to make up the deficiency.

"Although we cut drastically in all departments, we could not entirely eliminate the need to use some of the income tax money for general operations," Melvin said.

With enactment of the ordinance, he asked all city department heads to keep a regular check on expenditures and the balances left in their appropriations to make certain they are "living within their budget."

"EVERY DEPARTMENT head should keep track of the funds allocated to his department," Melvin said. "In that way, there will be a three-way check — the department head, the safety-service director's office and the auditor's office."

"I feel that regardless of what administration is in office in the future, it will come to the same conclusion we came to last fall—that it is impossible to operate the city with the funds derived from general taxation," Melvin commented. "The only future for the city government lies in the income tax."

"In most instances, when people think of the city government they visualize City Hall—a pile of brick and stone," Melvin said. "Actually, the city consists of over 22,000 people and we're all a part of it. I feel with public co-operation and understanding, the city government will pull out of its present financial condition."

CONCLUDING, Melvin said: "Once Council has appropriated the funds, it becomes the full responsibility of those administering the money to see that it is spent wisely. This responsibility cannot be disregarded."

The ordinance was passed unanimously. It contains an emergency clause which means it will go into effect immediately. Since Jan. 1, the city has been operating on a temporary appropriation ordinance which provided for wages and routine operating expenses through March 31.

Councilman Norman Bucher commended Melvin and other members of the finance committee for their work in drafting the appropriation.

"We anticipate $150,000 from the income tax and so far we've used $109,000 of that amount," Councilman John Kelly commented. "For anyone who feels we don't need the new revenue, these figures tell them different."

THEN HE CITED the comparatively small amount that the city government receives out of the local real estate tax rate of $34.40 per $1,000 valuation. The school system gets $22.90, $3.40 is paid to the county, 20 cents goes to the state and the remaining $7.90 is the city's share, including funds from voted levies and to retire outstanding debt, Kelly said.

"So a person who owns a $9,000 house, which is valued for tax purposes at about a third of its true worth, is paying only about $24 a year toward operation of the city," Kelly commented.

3 From Hancock Attend FBI Class

Two Hancock County sheriff's deputies and New Cumberland's newly-appointed chief of police are attending a school of instruction being conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Wellsburg.

The school opened Monday and will continue through April 7 in the Wellsburg Elks Club.

Sheriff Joe Manypenny reported that two other deputies on his staff, Ed Frankovich of Weirton, and Joseph Rainey of New Cumberland, will attend a school in Pittsburgh April 5-7.

The school, in charge of Coast Guard authorities, will be held to acquaint law-enforcement personnel with regulations concerning boating and other activities on the Ohio River.

Used Car Dealer Fined In Title Violation Case

LISBON — A Lisbon used car lot owner was fined for a certificate violation at a hearing Monday in County Court by Judge James L. MacDonald.

Ronald E. Mowery, 30, operator of the Mowery used car lot, was fined $200 and costs with $100 suspended for failing to secure a certificate of title to a motor vehicle displayed for sale on his lot. He was cited by Howard Lisk, inspector for the Motor Vehicle Bureau, and a State Highway patrolman. He pleaded guilty.

2 Faces Suspensions

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two city patrolmen, William Stoeckel and Ronald Hummendorf, both 25, face 30-day suspensions on department charges of being in cafes of questionable repute while off-duty. City Manager C. A. Harrell set the penalty Monday in charges stemming from a fatal scuffle in a cafe March 4. In the incident, a man took Stoeckel's service revolver and was shot to death after exchanging bullets with Hummendorf.

Repeater Files Denial In Intoxication Arrest

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Wednesday at 9 a. m. on an intoxication charge filed against another of the eight East Liverpool men to whom sale of liquor was forbidden in a list issued to taverns about three weeks ago.

The defendant, a West End resident, pleaded not guilty and asserted: "I was in bed in a hotel" prior to his arrest at 12:24 this morning.

"I'm sure there must be another side to the story," Solicitor Richard J. Clark commented. The judge continued the case to arrange the appearance of the arresting officers.

Burglar Ransacks 2 Desks In Office Of City Physician

A burglar apparently left empty-handed after ransacking two desks in an entry of an East Liverpool physician's office early today, police reported.

The entry at the office of Dr. J. Fraser Jackson, 205 W. 6th St., was discovered at 3:20 this morning by Patrolman H. W. Bosworth while on routine patrol, police said. The physician resides on Park Way.

Entry was gained by throwing a brick through a 24-x-28-inch pane of glass in a rear door, police said, but apparently nothing was taken.

Meanwhile, loss in a burglary Sunday night at a market just one door away was estimated at $85 to $90 in cash. Intruders entered Alex's Carry-Out, 613 Jackson St., operated by James Cunningham, 303 Moore St. A cigar box containing currency was taken from a desk drawer.

Vandalism in a burglary at a vacant house at 288 Center St. was reported to police Monday afternoon at 12:30. "Considerable damage" to the interior was reported by the Hilbert Agency, which said the home is owned by the Veterans Administration, officers said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm so embarrassed I can't find the words to express myself.

I've been married seven years to a wonderful man. We wanted a family from the beginning but have had no success. The doctors have told us we are both healthy and there is no reason why we shouldn't have children some day.

About three months ago I began to feel sick in the morning. I was thrilled. My husband even got sick. He was so happy. I gained 8 pounds, bought maternity dresses and told everyone the good news.

Yesterday I went to the doctor for my first checkup and he told me I am not pregnant. I'm so embarrassed I can't show my face. What shall I tell my friends? They will think I'm crazy. Have you ever heard of this happening to anyone else?—FALSE ALARM.

Dear Alarm: Yes I have heard of this. The medical term is pseudocyesis. In plain English, it is hysteria.

The mind can play all sorts of tricks on the body. It is not difficult to experience symptoms of a physical condition if you concentrate on it.

Tell your friends the story canceled the order. No details are necessary. And relax. About one out of five pregnancies ends in an early cancellation.

A Stitch In Time

Dear Ann: My wife and I have been married for 11 years and we have four fine children. There is very little arguing in our family.

Last night I took our son to a Cub Scout meeting. When he raised his hand to give the pledge I noticed all the buttons on his sleeve were missing. I asked him about it and he said, "Mom promised she'd sew them on when she found time."

I know how to sew on buttons—I learned in the Navy. I have always sewed on my own missing buttons because my wife neglects this chore. I really don't mind doing it. Should I insist that she sew the boy's buttons on because it's her job, or should I sew them on myself and say nothing?—P-JACKET.

Dear P. J.: Of course this is your wife's job, but apparently she has a fix on sewing buttons. Since peace reigns supreme in your home and you want to keep things calm, turn the situation into a good-natured joke. Sew the buttons on yourself and make a project of teaching your son how to do it—in case he marries a girl just like the girl who married dear old dad.

Stranger In Town

Dear Ann: I was married less than a month ago and my husband and I just moved to this city. He is well acquainted here but I am a stranger.

My husband keeps urging me to phone the wives of his co-workers and invite them over to have coffee and get acquainted. I am not a formal person, nor am I "stand-offish" but I do feel that I should wait until these women call me.

He says I'm stiff-necked and that nobody stands on ceremony any more. Who is right?—D. P.

Dear D. P.: You are right. Don't let your husband talk you into appearing aggressive and ill-mannered.

It is improper for a bride to phone strangers and invite them over to "get acquainted." Wait until you are called—or join some organizations and make friends this way.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Ernest Lowe Elected As Colloquium Club's Head

Mrs. Ernest Lowe was elected president of the Colloquium Study Club at a meeting Friday night with Mrs. Charles Sayre of Hill Blvd.

Others elected are: Mrs. Chester Parsons, vice president; Mrs. Sayre, recording secretary; Mrs. Cecil Pugh, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Andrew Myers Jr., treasurer.

The officers will be installed at the May meeting. Mrs. Frank Miller was chairman of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Edward Sanford, retiring president, conducted business. Mrs. Lawrence Black reported on the recent meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs. She said reservations must be made by April 11 for the spring meeting April 19 at the Mary Patterson Memorial.

The federation will also sponsor a play, "Ivan And the Firebird," April 15 at Westgate School. The club will assist with the second annual art show May 7-28 at Carnegie Library.

Mrs. Edward Daily, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Black, who spoke on "Traditions, Customs and Religion of the Hawaiian People."

Mrs. Charles Goodman Jr., reviewed the book, "King Kamehameha." Organ background music was provided by Mrs. Sayre.

Mrs. Elmer Eifer displayed articles she brought from Hawaii. Refreshments were served to 24 by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Fred McManus and Mrs. Lester Ellis, associate hostesses. A grass hut, coconut trees, leis and Hawaiian dancers formed decorations for the buffet table, covered with a pink cloth.

Mrs. Eifer will screen film strips of Hawaii at the next meeting April 20. The place is pending.

Wellsville Band Dance Friday Will Feature Queen Crowning

Miss Sandra Hermand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hermand of 11th St. will be crowned queen of the annual military ball of the Wellsville High School Band Friday night in the Beacom Memorial gym by Miss Jackie Smith, 1960 queen.

Miss Hermand, president of the band, has been a member for seven years. Her court will be Misses Vondra House, Becky Ryan and Cindy Williamson. They will be escorted by their dates.

Paul Householder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Householder of Wellsville R. D. 1, will receive the king's crown during the coronation ceremony open to the public from 9:45 to 10:15.

Kurt Schneidmiller, 1960 king and a student at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., will be unable to be present due to Saturday classes. The royal pair and the court are all members of the concert band.

"Ball Royale" is the theme and the gym will be decorated to give the impression of a large ballroom with a drawbridge at the entrance and a terrace for the taking of pictures. A pink and white color scheme will be used on the sides and deep purple behind the crowning area. Bob Hall's orchestra will provide the music for dancing from 8:30 to 11:30 by high school students and their dates.

Miss Hermand, general chairman, is being assisted by Marilyn

Navy Man Ends Leave

He has returned to Norfolk, Va., and will be stationed later for six months at Boston, Mass. He served overseas in France, Greece and Italy with the Navy.

Don't overheat a sauce made with natural cheddar cheese; too much heat may produce a curdled look or stringiness.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm so embarrassed I can't find the words to express myself.

I've been married seven years to a wonderful man. We wanted a family from the beginning but have had no success. The doctors have told us we are both healthy and there is no reason why we shouldn't have children some day.

About three months ago I began to feel sick in the morning. I was thrilled. My husband even got sick, he was so happy. I gained 8 pounds, bought maternity dresses and told everyone the good news.

Yesterday I went to the doctor for my first checkup and he told me I am not pregnant. I'm so embarrassed I can't show my face. What shall I tell my friends? They will think I'm crazy. Have you ever heard of this happening to anyone else?—FALSE ALARM.

Dear Alarm: Yes I have heard of this. The medical term is pseudocyesis. In plain English, it is hysteria.

The mind can play all sorts of tricks on the body. It is not difficult to experience symptoms of a physical condition if you concentrate on it.

Tell your friends the stork canceled the order. No details are necessary. And relax. About one out of five pregnancies ends in an early cancellation.

A Stitch In Time
Dear Ann: My wife and I have been married for 11 years and we have four fine children. There is very little arguing in our family. Last night I took our son to a Cub Scout meeting. When he raised his hand to give the pledge I noticed all the buttons on his sleeve were missing. I asked him about it and he said, "Mom promised she'd sew them on when she found time."

I know how to sew on buttons—I learned in the Navy. I have always sewed on my own missing buttons because my wife neglects this chore. I really don't mind doing it. Should I insist that she sew the boy's buttons on because it's her job, or should I sew them on myself and say nothing?—P-JACKET.

Dear P. J.: Of course this is your wife's job, but apparently she has a fix on sewing buttons. Since peace reigns supreme in your home and you want to keep things calm, turn the situation into a good-natured joke. Sew the buttons on yourself and make a project of teaching your son how to do it—in case he marries a girl just like the girl who married dear old dad.

Stranger In Town
Dear Ann: I was married less than a month ago and my husband and I just moved to this city. He is well acquainted here but I am a stranger.

My husband keeps urging me to phone the wives of his co-workers and invite them over to have coffee and get acquainted. I am not a formal person, nor am I "stand-offish" but I do feel that I should wait until these women call me.

He says I'm stiff-necked and that nobody stands on ceremony any more. Who is right?—D. P.

Dear D. P.: You are right. Don't let your husband talk you into appearing aggressive and ill-mannered.

It is improper for a bride to phone strangers and invite them over to "get acquainted." Wait until you are called—or join some organizations and make friends this way.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Intruders Drink Milk In Schools Enterings

Thirsty, nosy thieves entered the Highlandtown and No. 16 Schools overnight, school authorities reported today, repeating a pattern set Friday night when the Wayne School was entered.

Salineville

Gillis Earl, who previously supported the ordinance, indicated last night they would vote against it at its final reading Monday night. Councilman Don Lewis previously opposed it.

Absent last night were Councilmen Joe Knight, Homer Barcus and John Beadnell.

Other businessmen voicing opinions last night were John Miller, former tavern operator; Lewis McCullough, food market owner; Orville Madison, hardware operator, and Kenneth Hutson, bank official and furniture dealer.

Most of the protesters said the parking restriction would cause shoppers to bypass the town's business section for other areas. It was pointed out Salineville has no off-street parking facilities, and Main St. — Route 39 — is the only traffic artery through the town.

Some said that if the jurisdiction of the street were turned over to the state, other traffic restrictions may follow.

Intruders Drink Milk In Schools Enterings

Thirsty, nosy thieves entered the Highlandtown and No. 16 Schools overnight, school authorities reported today, repeating a pattern set Friday night when the Wayne School was entered. The intruders rummaged around in rooms at the schools, and drank some milk at Highlandtown, just as intruders did at Wayne. No milk was sipped at No. 16, officials said. Entry was made by breaking panes in windows.

Gillis Earl, who previously supported the ordinance, indicated last night they would vote against it at its final reading Monday night. Councilman Don Lewis previously opposed it.

Absent last night were Councilmen Joe Knight, Homer Barcus and John Beadnell.

Other businessmen voicing opinions last night were John Miller, former tavern operator; Lewis McCullough, food market owner; Orville Madison, hardware operator, and Kenneth Hutson, bank official and furniture dealer.

Most of the protesters said the parking restriction would cause shoppers to bypass the town's business section for other areas. It was pointed out Salineville has no off-street parking facilities, and Main St.—Route 39—is the only traffic artery through the town.

Some said that if the jurisdiction of the street were turned over to the state, other traffic restrictions may follow.

1961-62 of $401,673 was approved, down some $14,000 from the $415,434 of the 1960-61 period. The decline was attributed to revision of pupil-teacher unit for Wayne, No. 16 and Highlandtown Schools, and differences in times of tax valuation bases.

The board commended the high school band and director for performance and members' behavior at the band competition at Carrollton Saturday. The band received an "excellent" rating. The Band Boosters were granted permission to sponsor a dance at the high school April 14.

No 'Black Mark' At Mt. Lebanon ...

The "Cinderella Story" of West Penn basketball is still being written and the author is a Midland boy who made good. Dick Black, who played high school basketball at Midland under Coach Eddie McCuskey, and his Mt. Lebanon team are the talk of the Pittsburgh area.

Much has happened to young Black since he arrived on the scene last November at Mt. Lebanon, but observers who have watched him guide his team to the WPIAL championship and to the Western Pennsylvania finals say he has remained calm, cool and collected through it all.

Mt. Lebanon rolled over Johnstown, 62-41, Saturday to gain the finals. The Mounties beat Hickory Wednesday night at the Pitt Fieldhouse to decide who will battle for the state championship against the best in Eastern Pennsylvania.

All of this has happened to Black in his first year of varsity coaching. He is 28 years old.

East Liverpool's head cage mentor Jim Harris has a tie-in with the story. Harris left the head coaching job at Warrensville to return to East Liverpool. Warrensville officials promoted the reserve coach and hired Black as an assistant at Warrensville.

Congratulations In Order ...

OUR congratulations go to Stanton Local's great center, Don (Wilt) Spires, whose outstanding play for the Jefferson County school in Irondale earned him All-Ohio honors today.

A teammate, Bob Mills, also was honored by attaining the all-state honorable mention list. Both boys are juniors and figure to have greater seasons in 1962.

Spires, a young giant, scored 465 points this year. In the words of his coach, Harry Diehl, "The honor couldn't have been bestowed upon a finer gentleman."

Diehl and his Irons were feted Monday night by the Irondale Methodist Men and the announcement

Where Is Jim Owens? ...

WHERE'S Jim Owens? That's the question puzzling the Philadelphia Phillies, who are trying to find their young righthander.

In all probability he is back in Hayworth, Calif., by now. His parents reside there, but this past weekend he was in Midland.

Owens quit the Phils almost two weeks ago after an argument with manager Gene Mauch and general manager John Quinn at Clearwater, Fla.

Owens shipped all his belongings to Midland and was there with his family over the weekend before leaving for California.

During the off season, Owens was employed by Art Petrosky as a bartender at the Midland Hotel. Petrosky, a former professional baseball player himself, has managed Midland CIO teams for several years and has served as state commissioner of the National Baseball Congress.

Petrosky said he talked with Owens, urging him to return to the training camp, but couldn't convince him.

The short-tempered Owens, who is 27, won 12 games with the Phils in 1959, but didn't fair so well in 1960. He quit the Phils in spring training last year, too, after he was fined for a barroom fight, but came back the next day.

Cunningham Wins Scoring Race ...

EAST LIVERPOOL'S Ken Cunningham edged Jefferson Union's Glenn Dickinson as the top scorer in Class AA basketball in the upper Ohio Valley for the 1960-61 season.

Cunningham fired in 439 points during the regular season for an average of 24.3. Dickinson finished second with 428 points for a 23.5 average. Bob Kiggins, Wells' second leading all-time scorer, was third with 351 and a 20.6 average.

The Pottery was the only team to have two cagers in the top five. Ken Miller, the other part of East Liverpool's one-two punch, tied for fifth with 325 points.

This 'N That In Sports ...

LARRY BRUNO, former Potter Field standout who led Beaver Falls to the WPIAL Class AA title last season, will share speaking duties with Pete Ankney of Canton McKinley at the 10th annual Mahoning Valley Coaches Association's football and basketball clinic April 8 at Youngstown's South Fieldhouse.

DISTRICT golfers dusted off their clubs over the weekend and between 75 and 80 took advantage of the weather Saturday before the Veteran lefty Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves pitching staff is beginning his 19th major league season.

Stanton's Spires On 1st Team All-Ohio

Don (Wilt) Spires, whose scoring feats this season for Stanton Local of Irondale gained statewide acclaim, today was given a first-team berth on the All-Ohio Class A high school basketball squad for 1961.

The 6-foot, 6-inch junior center led the Irondale school to its first unbeaten season with 16 straight

Spires Gets Honorable Mention On UPI Team

In the United Press International voting released today, Don Spires was accorded honorable mention honors, along with Eddie Peltz of Mt. Pleasant.

Under first-year Coach Harry Diehl, the Irons compiled a 19-1 season mark, best in the Jefferson County school's history.

Junior forward Bob Mills, a classy shooter, was named to the All-Ohio honorable mention list. He joined with the tall Spires to give Stanton Local its most potent one-two punch ever.

Spires is the second Irondale cager ever named to the All-Ohio

team, which represents the best of the state's cagers.

His scoring feats are well-known as he averaged 23.2 per game for Stanton Local and accumulated a total of 465 for the year — the highest aggregate in the Ohio Valley.

Only other Irondale player ever given a berth on the All-Ohio first team was Junior Hart, a 5-8 forward who scored 360 points in 1944. Hart also made the second all-state team as a junior.

Mills' credentials for the all-state honorable mention list included a season point production of 319. In addition, he was an outstanding defensive player and floor leader.

Another Jefferson County player, Eddie Peltz of Mount Pleasant, was given a second-team berth. Dick Stevens of Springfield Local also was given honorable mention.

Other district cagers gaining the honorable mention list in the Class A ranks included: Rich Harrold, and Jim Perkins, Columbiana and Jerry Schaffer, United.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five kids proved today you don't have played for the state's 555 smaller schools. Schools with 180 or fewer boys enrolled are in Class A, the larger schools in Double-A.

On the All-Ohio are Dick Ricketts of Belle Center, which has 78 boys; Don Spires of Irondale Stanton Local, 62 boys; Steve Mc-

The five youngsters, none from a village of more than 900, averaged 126 points per game for the campaign. Spires, a 6-6 junior, averaged 24. McCullough 23, Neff 25 and McDonald 21.

Selections were on the basis of individual brilliance alone, won-lost records not figuring. Neff and McDonald, a pair of high-scoring speed kings, stand only 5-11, but the others tower over six feet.

Neff is the only one of the "1,000 to 1" shots appearing in this week's state championship finals, but third-stringer Steve Miller of Youngstown Liberty also will be on hand. The other 13 on the top three teams were eliminated in the long "lose and out" tournament trail to the state classic.

Four from the honorable mention list will be seen in the Friday-Saturday title test. They are Fred Albrecht of Youngstown Liberty, Ron Harper of unbeaten Proctorville Fairland, and Rick Renick and Carl Whitaker of Madison South. Sandy Bonvehio of Dennison St. Mary, the Class A All-Ohio quarter-back last fall, almost made it on the cage team—but wound up on the second string.

Toledo U. Coach To Speak At Potters' Cage Banquet

Eddie Melvin, who has just completed his seventh year at the helm at the University of Toledo, and is widely known in college basketball circles around the nation, will be guest speaker when the 1960-61 East Liverpool basketball team is honored March 28 at Westgate School.

The annual banquet is being co-sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the East Liverpool High School Athletic Association. Dan Payne of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. is chairman.

A feature of the banquet will be the presentation of the annual Hi-Y award which honors the outstanding senior player. Foul shooting trophies also will be presented to the most accurate shot on the varsity and reserve squads.

Melvin, who guided the Rockets to a 15-8 record this past season, starred as a college player at Duquesne University and is a native of Pittsburgh. It was during his playing days under Coach Chick Davies that the school's "Iron Dukes" (five players who played from 1937-41) made national history by winning 87 of 95 varsity games and participating in the NIT and NCAA tournaments in 1940-41.

Melvin won All-American honors at Duquesne in 1940.

Following graduation from the Pittsburgh School, Melvin joined the original New York Celtics. He was chosen a member of the all-star team at the World Professional Basketball Tournament in Chicago in 1942.

He served in the Army Air Corps from 1944-45, then returned to Pittsburgh, where he performed with the Pittsburgh club in the National Basketball Association.

Melvin launched his coaching career at St. Bonaventure in 1947 and in the course of six seasons his teams won 98 and lost only 46. His St. Bonaventure teams of 1951 and 1952 were selected to play in the National Invitational Tournament and the 1953 squad took part in the Sugar Bowl Tournament at New Orleans.

Melvin accepted the Toledo post in 1954 and his top seasons have been the last two, 15-8, this past year and 18-6 during 1959-60. Tickets for the banquet may be purchased from Kiwanis Club members.

Porky Oliver Is Weakened From Cancer

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Cancer has weakened golfer Porky Oliver to such an extent that his doctor tells him he may have less than a year to live.

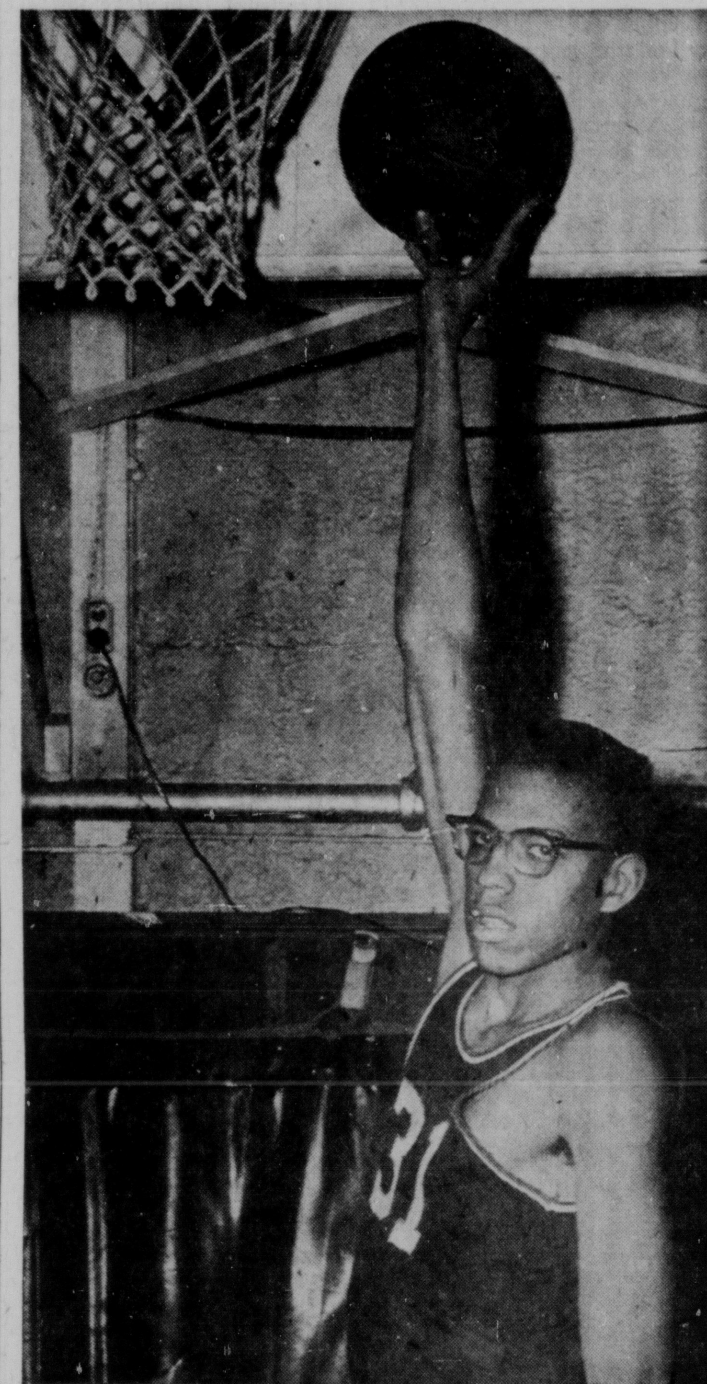

But the "curse," as he calls it, will not sap his spirit, nor his faith, nor his good will toward others.

Despite two operations and word from his physician that he may have only 4-to-6 months to live, Porky Oliver has not crawled into any dark corner to sit back and await death. He abounds in faith and is making his life useful by aiding cancer research.

"Hell," he said, "miracles happen. I've known some cases where people were told they had only a few months or years to live and they lived 20 or 30 years."

"You just hope for the best, particularly if you have a family. You start praying to the man. That's the only thing to do. I've been feeling pretty good lately."

Oliver, 45 and the father of three boys and a girl ranging in age from 9 to 18, had been a public relations official with the Denver-Chicago Trucking Co. of Denver for the past two years. He recently returned to Wilmington to live.

REACHING new heights today was Stanton Local's great pivot star, Don "Wilt" Spires, who was picked on the first All-Ohio Class A team. Spires is only a junior at the Irondale school.

Robbie Sorry About Court, Gun Incident

CINCINNATI (AP) — Slugger Frank Robinson said Monday "I'm sorry it happened," after he was penalized $250 plus costs and got a stern lecture from the bench on a gun-carrying charge.

He added, "In the future I'll think a little more."

Robinson, star outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds, pleaded guilty in Common Pleas Court to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Under law, he could have faced 1-3 years in prison.

Judge Frank Gusweiler scolded Robinson, saying that as a public figure he should set a good example.

Robinson was expected back in Florida in time to accompany the Reds to Orlando today for an exhibition game against Minnesota's Twins.

The charge grew out of an incident in a Cincinnati eating place Feb. 9. Robinson said he pulled a .25 caliber pistol from a pocket after a cook picked up a knife. The cook said he grabbed the knife after Robinson drew the weapon.

National League officials said they plan no action in the case.

Robinson's attorney, William Blum, asked Judge Gusweiler to note, Robinson, a Negro, was "forced by circumstances to live in a neighborhood where it often is unsafe to move around at night."

City Softball League Ready To Organize

A City Softball League is being formed and anyone interested may contact Jim Tice at FU, 6-6528 after 2 p. m. A meeting is being planned for late this month. Teams entered last year included Midland CIO, East End Merchants, American Vitified, Patterson-Wetzel Cleaners and St.uden's Construction. Midland CIO was the league champ.

tended to five games before eliminating the Detroit Pistons in a semifinal series.

The second game of the Eastern Division finals also is on tap tonight with the Boston Celtics meeting the Nationals in Syracuse. The Celtics won the opener in Boston Sunday, 128-115. The Nats reached the finals with a three-game sweep of the Philadelphia Warriors.

St. Louis coach Paul Seymour isn't afraid the Hawks will be rusty from their long layoff. "We need the rest," he said. "Several players were run down but now the entire club is in good shape."

Last season the Hawks defeated the Lakers, who were then representing Minneapolis, 4-3 in the playoffs. Two years ago the Lakers won the series from St. Louis 4-2.

The second game of the series will be played in St. Louis Wednesday night.

Boston is aiming for its fourth NBA championship in five seasons. The Celtics defeated St. Louis in seven games for the title last year.

No 'Black Mark' At Mt. Lebanon...

The "Cinderella Story" of Western Pennsylvania basketball is still being written and the author is a Midland boy who made good.

Dick Black, who played high school basketball at Midland under Coach Eddie McCluskey, and his Mt. Lebanon team are the talk of the Pittsburgh area.

Much has happened to young Black since he arrived on the scene last November at Mt. Lebanon, but observers who have watched him guide his team to the WPIAL championship and to the Western Pennsylvania finals say he has remained calm, cool and collected through it all.

Mt. Lebanon rolled over Johnstown, 62-41, Saturday to gain the finals. The Mounties met Hickory Wednesday night at the Pitt Fieldhouse to decide who will battle for the state championship against the best in Eastern Pennsylvania.

All of this has happened to Black in his first year of varsity coaching. He is 28 years old.

East Liverpool's head cage mentor Jim Harris has a tie-in with the story. Harris left the head coaching job at Warrensville to return to East Liverpool. Warrensville officials promoted the reserve coach and hired Black as an assistant at Warrensville.

Congratulations In Order...

OUR congratulations go to Stanton Local's great center, Don (Will) Spires, whose outstanding play for the Jefferson County school in Irondale earned him All-Ohio honors today.

A teammate, Bob Mills, also was honored by attaining the all-state honorable mention list. Both boys are juniors and figure to have greater seasons in 1962.

Spires, a young giant, scored 465 points this year. In the words of his coach, Harry Diehl, "The honor couldn't have been bestowed upon a finer gentleman."

Diehl and his Irons were feted Monday night by the Irondale Methodist Men and the announcement

Where Is Jim Owens?...

WHERE'S Jim Owens? That's the question puzzling the Philadelphia Phillies, who are trying to find their young righthander.

In all probability he is back in Hayworth, Calif., by now. His parents reside there, but this past weekend he was in Midland.

Owens quit the Phils almost two weeks ago after an argument with manager Gene Mauch and general manager John Quinn at Clearwater, Fla.

Owens shipped all his belongings to Midland and was there with his family over the weekend before leaving for California.

During the off season, Owens

Stanton's Spires On 1st Team All-Ohio

4 From Area On Honorable Mention

Don (Will) Spires, whose scoring feats this season for Stanton Local of Irondale gained statewide acclaim, today was given a first-team berth on the All-Ohio Class A high school basketball squad for 1961.

The 6-foot, 6-inch junior center led the Irondale school to its first unbeaten season with 16 straight victories.

Spires Gets Honorable Mention On UPI Team

In the United Press International voting released today, Don Spires was accorded honorable mention honors, along with Eddie Peltz of Mt. Pleasant.

Under first-year Coach Harry Diehl, the Irons compiled a 19-1 season mark, best in the Jefferson County school's history.

Junior forward Bob Mills, a classy shooter, was named to the All-Ohio honorable mention list. He joined with the tall Spires to give Stanton Local its most potent one-two punch ever.

Spires is the second Irondale cager ever named to the All-Ohio

team, which represents the best of the state's cagers.

His scoring feats are well-known as he averaged 23.2 per game for Stanton Local and accumulated a total of 465 for the year — the highest aggregate in the Ohio Valley.

Only other Irondale player ever given a berth on the All-Ohio first team was Junior Hart, a 5-8 forward who scored 360 points in 1944. Hart also made the second all-state team as a junior.

Mills' credentials for the all-state honorable mention list included a season point production of 319. In addition, he was an outstanding defensive player and floor leader.

Another Jefferson County player, Eddie Peltz of Mount Pleasant, was given a second-team berth. Dick Sivets of Springfield Local also was given honorable mention.

Other district cagers gaining the honorable mention list in the Class A ranks included: Rich Harrold, and Jim Perkins, Columbiana and Jerry Schaffer, United.

On the All-Ohio are Dick Ricketts of Belle Center, which has 78 boys; Don Spires of Irondale Stanton Local, 62 boys; Steve Mc-

The five youngsters, none from a village of more than 900, averaged 126 points per game for the campaign. Spires, a 6-6 junior, averaged 24. McCullough 23, Neff 25 and McDonald 21.

Selections were on the basis of individual brilliance alone, won-loss records not figuring. Neff and McDonald, a pair of high-scoring speed kings, stand only 5-11, but the others tower over six feet.

Neff is the only one of the "1,000 to 1" shots appearing in this week's state championship finals, but third-stringer Steve Miller of Youngstown Liberty also will be on hand. The other 13 on the top three teams were eliminated in the long "lose and out" tournament trail to the state classic.

Four from the honorable mention list will be seen in the Friday-Saturday title test. They are Fred Albrecht of Youngstown Liberty, Ron Harper of unbeaten Proctorville Fairland, and Rick Renick and Carl Whitaker of Madison South.

Sandy Bonvechio of Dennison St. Mary, the Class A All-Ohio quarter-back last fall, almost made it on the cage team—but wound up on the second string.

Toledo U. Coach To Speak At Potters' Cage Banquet

Eddie Melvin, who has just completed his seventh year at the helm at the University of Toledo, and is widely known in college basketball circles around the nation, will be guest speaker when the 1960-61 East Liverpool basketball team is honored March 28 at Westgate School.

The annual banquet is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the East Liverpool High School Athletic Association. Dan Payne of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. is chairman.

A feature of the banquet will be the presentation of the annual Hi-Y award which honors the outstanding senior player. Foul shooting trophies also will be presented to the most accurate shot on the varsity and reserve squads.

Melvin, who guided the Rockets to a 15-8 record this past season, starred as a college player at Duquesne University and is a native of Pittsburgh. It was during his playing days under Coach Chick Davies that the school's "Iron Dukes" (five players who played from 1937-41) made national his-

Saperstein Promises New Look In Pro Ball

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Professional basketball will have a new look in the American Basketball League, which starts operations in the fall.

That's the word of acting Commissioner Abe Saperstein, who has learned over the years as owner of the independent Harlem Globetrotters how to give the fans what they want to see.

"There are going to be rule changes, a premium placed on the smaller player and a better balance between offense and defense," Saperstein said in an interview.

More Questioned In Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (AP) — The interrogation by the office of the district attorney into the latest college basketball scandal continued today.

A spokesman disclosed Monday that "more players" had been questioned at the district attorney's headquarters but he refused to identify the individuals or what schools were involved.

Tension was high in the metropolitan area as school officials awaited answers to the claims that 15 to 20 colleges may be implicated on a national scale.

Twenty-five detectives are investigating the case.

Last Friday two men, both convicted gamblers, were arrested and charged with bribing three players to hold down their team's scoring.

Dayton Faces Temple

NIT Tournament Resumes With Two Games Tonight
By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The long and short of the National Invitation Tournament meet in one of the quarter-finals in Madison Square Garden tonight.
Dayton, five times a finalist and never a winner, has the tallest team in the tourney. The Flyers play Temple's Tiny Tims in the opener of the doubleheader.
In the second game, Niagara—the only other seeded team left besides Dayton — goes against Providence. The winners go into the semi-finals on Thursday. The final is scheduled for Saturday.

"I know all about these little guys," said Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn, referring to Temple. "They are not easy to beat. In fact, the little teams have been dominating this tournament."
Temple's Coach Harry Litwack shudders when he thinks of Dayton's figures—a 19-7 regular season record and over 90 points five times.
"The big men have been killing success with the Cardinals. Dave Stenhouse in three innings gave up four hits and two runs, while Zack Monroe was touched for three runs on three hits in one inning.

The Reds clustered four of their nine hits in the last two innings to score four times. Vada Pinson headed Cincinnati hitting with two triples and a single.

Akron Board Okays $20,806,532 Budget
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Akron Board of Education has approved a 1961 school budget of $20,806,532, one of the lowest in recent years. It covers a $200 yearly salary increase voted to all teachers beginning Jan. 1, plus provisions to educate 1,300 more students than a year ago. Teachers' salaries make up 80 per cent of the budget.

The board also voted Monday to name the new high school to be built in northwest Akron after the late Harvey S. Firestone, founder of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

Reds' Rookie Is Clobbered By Cardinals
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Of the Reds' rookies this spring, Ray Rippelmeyer, a scholarly — appearing right-hander with a good curve, has been given one of the best chances to make good with Cincinnati.

It may be only a spring dream now. For in the six innings of exhibition baseball he's worked, he's been tattooed for 15 hits and a dozen runs.

Rip's most troubled hour came Monday when St. Louis went to work on him for four innings and extracted 12 hits and 9 runs, 5 of them earned.

The Cards went on to cut down the Reds, 14-5.
Ray was among five prospects the Reds brought to spring training from which to pick one or two pitchers, including a starter if possible.

"We can cause plenty of trouble if we get a fifth pitcher," Manager Fred Hutchinson said Monday.

Rippelmeyer came to the Reds after a fine 16-13 season at Seattle where in 229 innings he had a 2.71 earned run average.

His successors on the mound Monday had only slightly better

Hitters Continue To Show Edge On Pitchers In Camp

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The way the hitters are smashing the ball off, and over, the fences in Florida and Arizona, the name of the game could be ricochet instead of baseball.

The carnage continued unabated Monday with the St. Louis Cardinals inflicting the worst damage by pounding Cincinnati pitchers for 19 hits, including seven doubles and a triple, in a 14-5 exhibition victory over the Reds.

The Cleveland Indians, who rocked San Francisco hurlers for 18 hits Sunday, continued their assault on the Giants' shell-shocked staff with a 3-homer, 14-hit attack for a 12-5 triumph.

Elsewhere, it was the same story. Twenty-seven hits were sprayed around the field as the New York Yankees beat the Los Angeles Dodgers in an 11-8 slugfest, and another 27 caromed off booming bats as the Boston Red Sox outlasted the Los Angeles Angels 8-7.

Baltimore settled for nine hits in a come-from-behind 7-6 triumph over the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, while in a night game the Kansas City A's edged the Washington Senators 4-3 on Jerry Lumpe's two-run double in the ninth inning.

Bill White led the Cardinals with four hits, two of them doubles, and Stan Musial contributed a single, double and triple against Cincinnati pitching hopefuls Ray Rippelmeyer, Dave Stenhouse and Zach Monroe. Vada Pinson had a single and two triples for the Reds.

Cleveland right-hander Jim Perry pitched scoreless, four-hit ball in a six-inning stint against the Giants. Woodie Held led the homering triumvirate with a three-run shot while Tito Francona and Hal Jones added two-run clouts.

The Yankees put together a four run outburst in the sixth and came up with six in the seventh to hold off the Dodgers, who got a homer and triple from Willie Davis and four RBI performance

Vic Wertz, with 3-for-4, powered the Red Sox. Wertz' run-producing single in the ninth chased the winning run across after his three-run homer had kept Boston in contention. Gene Leek had a homer, double and single for the Angels.

Chuck Essegian's two-run homer in the fifth and a three-run homer by Ron Samford in the sixth brought the Orioles, trailing 6-0, within range of the Pirates. Baltimore then won it with two in the ninth on Essegian's double, singles by Jerry Adair and Whitey Herzog, and an error.

Lumpe's game-winning double for Kansas City came with two out and the bases loaded off Washington reliever Marty Kutyna. The Athletics entered the bottom of the ninth trailing 3-2 when Ray Semproch filled the

NIT Tournament Resumes With Two Games Tonight

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The long and the short of the National Invitation Tournament meet in one of the quarter-finals in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Dayton, five times a finalist and never a winner, has the tallest team in the tourney. The Flyers play Temple's Tiny Tims in the opener of the doubleheader.

In the second game, Niagara—the only other seeded team left besides Dayton — goes against Providence. The winners go into the semi-finals on Thursday. The final is scheduled for Saturday.

"I know all about these little guys," said Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn, referring to Temple. "They are not easy to beat. In fact, the little teams have been dominating this tournament."

Temple's Coach Harry Litwak shudders when he thinks of Dayton's figures—a 19-7 regular season record and over 90 points five times.

"The big men have been killing success with the Cardinals. Dave Stenhouse in three innings gave up four hits and two runs, while Zack Monroe was touched for three runs on three hits in one inning.

The Reds clustered four of their nine hits in the last two innings to score four times. Vada Pinson headed Cincinnati hitting with two triples and a single.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Akron Board of Education has approved a 1961 school budget of $20,806,532, one of the lowest in recent years. It covers a $200 yearly salary increase voted to all teachers be-ginning Jan. 1, plus provisions to educate 1,300 more students than a year ago. Teachers' salaries make up 80 per cent of the budget.

The board also voted Monday to name the new high school to be built in northwest Akron after the late Harvey S. Firestone, founder of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

DETROIT (AP) — Sports Bowl of Middletown, Ohio rolled a 2883 series Monday and a 5639 six-game total for tenth place in the classic team standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Television Keeps Children From Books

Children nine to 12 years of age devote, on the average, 20 hours weekly to television. Those from 13 to 15 a little less. At all levels, boys spend more time than girls viewing television. Parents average 20.5 hours per week; teachers, 11 hours. The most popular television programs at nine to 12 are Dr. Garry Meyers, The Three Stooges, Bugs Bunny, Rifleman, Shock Theater and Zorro; at 10 to 14 American Bandstand, Maverick, Dick Clark Show, Father Knows Best, Shock Theater. Compared with the time given to television, relatively little time is spent on reading, about an hour a day at each grade level; no more time is spent in reading for pleasure as the child grows older. How amazing that a child should read no more at 15 than he read at nine!

MOST BOOKS named by the children are fiction. Drama, essays and poetry were named less often. Stories of famous people were preferred in the nonfiction group. Books of adventure, mystery and westerns were most popular with boys; books of romance with girls.

Less interest was revealed in hobbies involving outdoor activities, and there was less frequent participation in fishing, playing marbles, hunting, hiking, flying kites and picnicking than had been reported in earlier studies. More frequently than in earlier studies, girls expressed preference at all grade levels for such occupations as teacher, nurse and secretary; boys chose engineering and science most often.

Eighty-five per cent of the children in grades 7, 8, 9 said they were planning to enter college. Even a higher proportion of the parents said they wanted their children to go to college.

ALL THESE WERE the findings of a study reported by Dr. Paul Witty of Northwestern University before the American Association for the Advancement of Science at its meeting in New York City.

The author makes some recommendations to the home and school:

Study the child's interests. Stimulate his interest in hobbies and creative participating fun. Provide good reading material in a home where all the family reads. Cultivate good reading skills in the child.

It seems to me that if we parents are going to get the school child to read more for pleasure, we will have to begin long before he goes to school to limit the time he now views television and to supervise the kind of programs he may view; and that such limitations and guidance will have to continue while he is going to school.

Let's not fool ourselves that we can help books win out merely on the basis of temporary interest. My bulletins, "Why Read to Baby and Young Child" and "Home Helps for Poor Readers," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Slimming Program Can Be Spring Tonic

The year is at the spring. There's a tonic quality in the air. Suddenly you can't bear to be overweight or out of shape. Use this quickening of the spirit, a spark that can be blown into a blaze, with action.

This time make the action count for weight control. Instead of going on some quickie diet and then back to your old ways of eating, which unfortunately are too fattening, do something that can help you to stay with a slimming pattern long enough for you to establish new eating habits.

The unhappy fact is that many of you find it next to impossible to stay with low calorie fare, for long anyway. You need something to fortify against hunger and to prevent the all-gone feeling that comes between low calorie meals.

Appetite depressant pills will not work. In fact, they are not even in the right direction.

TRY This plan: Eat three low calorie meals a day — balanced meals that include a protein food, bulk for fullness, variety and something chewy.

In short, follow a diet you can get your teeth into. Bolster these low calorie meals by using the formula diet plan as a supplement. The booster nutrients in the formula increase the satiety value of the diet on a minimum of calories.

In the "Habit Changing Diet" suggested this week, eight ounces of the liquid formula is suggested to be used as a purposeful pick-up. This is divided into two four ounce snacks. For most of you late afternoon is zero hour.

Cut ahead of hunger of having a half-glass of the formula then. If the other weak spot is evening, save the second pick-up for that time. Use the pick-ups at the specific times when you need them most.

Spring is an excellent time for a physical check up. If you have considerable weight to take off, you should see your doctor. You want to improve your health as you reduce excess weight.

Another needed spring tonic measure is — exercise. Today's way of life doesn't require strong muscles, but we need to be toned up on the inside. To stimulate circulation and step up calorie burning, get out and walk. A walk of one mile a day can burn up 100 calories ... but more important, regular exercise helps you to tone up and feel alive. Happy spring-time slimming!

Verdict Is Denied To Furnace Firm

LISBON — Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Monday afternoon directed a jury to return a verdict in favor of Kenneth E. and Hazel M. Wilson of New Waterford, defendants in a suit filed by a furnace firm.

The Williamson Heater Co. of Cincinnati claimed $649.14 due on a promissory note for installation of a furnace. The couple contended it was not working properly and refused to pay until the defects were corrected. Testimony indicated the company had altered the note in several places and the judge then ordered the directed verdict.

Serving on the jury, which was seated Monday morning, were Kathryn Weisand, Mabel Hall, James M. Huston, Loretta Costello and June E. Bickar of East Liverpool; Helen R. Hurray, Louis Slaby and Betty R. Alessi of Salem.

G. W. McCartney of Wellsville, Alberta A. Smith and Jessie Barcus of Saineville and Betty J. Pickens of Homeworth.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I tighten the blades of a pair of scissors, which have become loose?

A. Try pressing a hot poker or solder iron on each side of the rivet which holds the blades. The rivet will expand and fit the hole, which tightens these blades.

Q. How can I ascertain, when buying a woolen fabric, if it has been stretched and is likely to shrink when laundered?

A. See if the fabric has a series of holes along the selvages. If it has, it means the material has been stretched.

Q. How can I make a cement for celluloid?

A. Use 1 part camphor, 4 parts alcohol. Dissolve and add to this solution an equal quantity, by weight, of shellac.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Shoe Corp. of America plans to enter the discount shoe operation on a national scale. President Robert W. Schiff announced Monday.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

ABC Reduces Its Westerns

With all television upholding the give-the-people-what-they-want rule (however rank), it is indicative of some good that the American Broadcasting Co., foremost caterer to the rank and file, is diminishing its Western output and expanding "blue ribbon" programming. This encouraging trend was especially noticeable last week when all of ABC's top officials, heartened by the success of the distinguished Winston Churchill series, called out the press to announce a similar treatment of the life and times of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"You see," remarked an ABC executive who's sensitive to network criticism, "we do produce something good once in awhile!"

JUDGMENT on the production merits of "The Roosevelt Years" will have to await its arrival in the fall of 1962, but it can be stated even at this early date that it will be an authoritative series.

This assurance stems from the fact that the 26-part series will have the consultative services of the widow of the late President.

Additionally, Mrs. Roosevelt will appear on the programs, give private observations, photographs and memorabilia to the producers, who also will have at their disposal the resources of the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Library in Hyde Park — historical materials, tape recordings, photographs, films and personal papers.

The sum to be paid Mrs. Roosevelt for her participation was not revealed but it couldn't be greater than her enthusiasm.

"THIS," SHE SAYS of the proposed series, "could be an invaluable educational project, particularly for the people who were too young to remember the period. Sometimes, in speaking engagements, I find I have to explain what a depression was."

The Roosevelt story, spanning the presidential years 1933-45, will have the benefit of the same team that produced the Churchill story — Robert Graff and Ben Feiner Jr. They estimate it will take from 15 to 18 months to gather material for the series, some of which will include new film footage.

Mrs. Roosevelt, asked if she will share in residual profits, expressed her usual disinterest in fiscal matters. Said she: "I haven't any idea."

SUMMER TV, a re-run ghetto, will have at least four freshly minted series — "Way Out," "High Time," "Sports" and "Fractured Flickers," all out of CBS.

"Theater" has acquired the internationally acclaimed motion picture, "The Red Balloon," a short film feature which, without one word of dialogue, tells the poignant story of a lonely French boy and a forgotten red balloon. It will run April 2.

AN ELOQUENT PLEA for the elimination of "excessive violence" and increased use of qualitative TV was made last week by LeRoy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, at a luncheon meeting of the Radio and Television Executives Society of New York.

Mr. Collins said the "persistent and widespread critical attack" directed toward the amount and kind of crime and violence shown on TV "comes from a wide variety of sources" and "reflects deep-seated and genuine concern — a concern which is shared by many thoughtful people in broadcasting."

"The fact is," he declared, "that there have been sequences on television that I think all of us would agree should have been omitted. Despite the subjective nature of the judgments involved, there is no sound reason why men of good conscience cannot reach common agreement in such matters."

Noting that while TV must be influenced by the prevailing taste of its millions of viewers, Mr. Collins said "broadcasters long have recognized the importance of providing some program fare which is impressed with recognized cultural and informational values."

ABC Reduces Its Westerns

With all television upholding the give - the - people - what - they - want rule (however rank), it is indicative of some good that the American Broadcasting Co., foremost caterer to the rank and file, is diminishing its Western output and expanding "blue ribbon" programming. This encouraging trend was especially noticeable last week when all of ABC's top officials, heartened by the success of the distinguished Winston Churchill series, called out the press to announce a similar treatment of the life and times of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"You see," remarked an ABC executive who's sensitive to network criticism, "we do produce something good once in awhile!"

JUDGMENT on the production merits of "The Roosevelt Years" will have to await its arrival in the fall of 1962, but it can be stated even at this early date that it will be an authoritative series.

This assurance stems from the fact that the 26-part series will have the consultative services of the widow of the late President. Additionally, Mrs. Roosevelt will appear on the programs, give private observations, photographs and memorabilia to the producers, who also will have at their disposal the resources of the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Library in Hyde Park - historical materials, tape recordings, photographs, films and personal papers.

The sum to be paid Mrs. Roosevelt for her participation was not revealed but it couldn't be greater than her enthusiasm.

"THIS," SHE SAYS of the proposed series, "could be an invaluable educational project, particularly for the people who were too young to remember the period. Sometimes, in speaking engagements, I find I have to explain what a depression was."

The Roosevelt story, spanning the presidential years 1933-45, will have the benefit of the same team that produced the Churchill story - Robert Graff and Ben Feiner Jr. They estimate it will take from 15 to 18 months to gather material for the series, some of which will include new film footage.

Mrs. Roosevelt, asked if she will share in residual profits, expressed her usual disinterest in fiscal matters. Said she: "I haven't any idea."

SUMMER TV, a re-run ghetto, will have at least four freshly minted series "Way Out," "High Time," "Sports" and "Fractured Flickers," all out of CBS.

"Theater" has acquired the internationally acclaimed motion picture, "The Red Balloon," a short film feature which, without one word of dialogue, tells the poignant story of a lonely French boy and a forgotten red balloon. It will run April 2.

AN ELOQUENT PLEA for the elimination of "excessive violence" and increased use of qualitative TV was made last week by LeRoy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, at a luncheon meeting of the Radio and Television Executives Society of New York.

Mr. Collins said the "persistent and widespread critical attack" directed toward the amount and kind of crime and violence shown on TV "comes from a wide variety of sources" and "reflects deep-seated and genuine concern—a concern which is shared by many thoughtful people in broadcasting."

"The fact is," he declared, "that there have been sequences on television that I think all of us would agree should have been omitted. Despite the subjective nature of the judgments involved, there is no sound reason why men of good conscience cannot reach common agreement in such matters."

Noting that while TV must be influenced by the prevailing taste of its millions of viewers, Mr. Collins said "broadcasters long have recognized the importance of providing some program fare which is impressed with recognized cultural and informational values."
